

SHIPS TO GULF BY '31—HOOPER

MICHAELSON KIN
NOW HELD FOR LEAKING TRUNKArrested as Congressman Is Freed.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Key West, Fla., May 9.—[Special.]— Alfred Michaelson was accepting congratulations on his acquittal and his brother-in-law, Walter Gramm, known down here as the "fall guy," was submitting to arrest on almost the same day.
A new story of the now famous Michaelson West Indies cruise was being circulated here this afternoon.

According to the story current here and in Washington and which is said to have been brought from Port au Prince, Haiti, only the meager details of the cruise cropped out during the trial in federal court here. There were fast fights and fun in the wide open spaces of Port au Prince, according to this version, and the dry congressman is alleged to have gone in for a barrel run in a big way, having secured, it is said, three kegs containing 45 gallons, an personally escorted them aboard the good ship
"Hector."

Reported Antics in Tropics.
Congressman Michaelson shook his head sadly today when advised that his trunk had been found in the tropics.
"I don't want to hear any more about it," he snapped. "It is nobody's business where I went or what I did.
I refuse to affirm, deny or discuss it."
There are interesting details concerning the stowaway in Port au
Prince, but first the case of Mr.
Gramm, the Chicago coal merchant who gave a demonstration of brotherly love yesterday and began paying for it today, must be cleared up.
Mr. Gramm, despite his constitutional rights, came right out and admitted ownership of the trunk that leaked in the depot at Jacksonville, and told a jury the congressman had brought it in for him without knowing its contents.

Gets Warrant for Gramm.
W. P. Hughes, acting United States attorney here, at once called for a warrant against Mr. Gramm, which charges that:
"On the third day of January, 1929, at Jacksonville, Walter Gramm did unlawfully conceal and facilitate the transportation and concealment of certain merchandise—to-wit: twelve barrels of intoxicating liquor, which herebefore had been imported into the United States at Key West, in contravention to the law, well knowing the same to have been unlawfully imported."

W. W. Crumley, United States marshal, stationed himself by the elevator at Key West's leading hotel just before noon today. Presently Mr.
Gramm emerged for a late breakfast.
He didn't get it, though, right at that time, for he had to go down to pay call on C. Rodney Gwynn, United States commissioner.

Ball Is Fixed at $2,000.
Ball was fixed at $2,000 and made complete in Jacksonville May 13, where the grand jury will act on the arrest. Fixing ball was an easy matter, and the great friendship existing between the congressman and his brother-in-law again was illustrated.
Mr. Michaelson merely had his $2,000 transferred over to Mr. Gramm and everybody went to breakfast.
Asked how he felt about his arrest, Gramm said, "I didn't expect it. I'm sorry."

The case against Mr. Gramm, if the grand jury indict, will be tried in Jacksonville. The government was careful to see to that. Key West is not the only drinking water in the Key is clouded given, but nobody appears to be inconvenienced.
Afraid of Key West.
The acquittal of Mr. Michaelson apparently received the approval of all Key West except the government and business folks. The prosecution had been afraid of Key West and had observed that they thought was a "handcuffed" jury. The panel was drawn from mainland counties, and the only Key West man on the jury was excluded by the government. North announced Florida juries have a reputation of convicting in liquor cases, and few have been found guilty in Key West. Nevertheless, this mainland jury got "balled up" over what was called a "reasonable doubt" and returned to convict.

Mr. Michaelson was in a bad humor this morning. He was asked about the party reported to have been held at his home on the night of the arrest.

THE ARGUMENT OVER TEMPERANCE

HAGEN BATTLES HIGH WIND AND GETS LOW SCORE

MUIRFIELD, Scotland, May 10.—

[Friday].—(AP).—Successfully combating a 35-mile-an-hour wind, Walter Hagen, captain of America's Ryder cup team, shot a fine 75 in the third round of the British open golf championship today to take an early lead on the field.
With the last 18 holes of the competition to be played later in the day, Hagen had amassed a 54-hole total of 217.
Under pressure of bad weather conditions, scores were almost uniformly high, but Hagen seemed little troubled by the heavy wind. He played fine golf, going out with a 37 that would have been a bit lower but for a couple of slips on the seventh, eighth, and ninth holes. His three-round total of 217 gave him a four stroke lead on his nearest rival among the early finishers, Percy Allis of Great Britain, who made the round in 76, with a total of 221 for 54 holes.

Other results, with previous totals:
Abe Mitchell, Great Britain...144 78—222
Gene Sarazen, United States...147 81—228

T. R. JR. MAY BE
OF PORTO RICO

Washington, D. C., May 9.—(AP).—

Resident Commissioner Davila of Porto Rico today announced he had been informed at the White House that President Hoover was considering appointing Col. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. to be governor of Porto Rico.

The commissioner said the President had indicated to him that he did not desire to make the appointment for three or four months, pending information from Porto Rico as to whether Col. Roosevelt would be satisfactory to the people of the island.

The Porto Rico commissioner asserted he was given to understand that Gov. Horace M. Towner, whose resignation has been submitted to the President, was to return to Porto Rico and remain until the President had decided as to who would be his successor.

Gov. Towner has been in Washington for several days and recently held a lengthy conference with the President.

BULLETIN.

Hollywood, Cal., May 9.—(Special.)—

John Gilbert and his bride, Ina Claire, flew here tonight from Las Vegas, Nev., where they were married this morning. The trip was made in a tri-motored plane chartered for the wedding party.

Las Vegas, Nev., May 9.—[Special.]— With hundreds of citizens of Las Vegas crowding the courthouse here and lining the street outside, John Gilbert, famed film lover, and Ina Claire, stage star, were married shortly before noon today by Municipal Judge Roger Foley.

At the end of the ring ceremony that made them man and wife, Gilbert stepped forward and warmly kissed his bride. She seemed to brush away a tear before she waved a smiling greeting to the crowd.

Movie Men Witnesses.
The ceremony was witnessed by Bernard Glazer, production manager for Pathé, and Mrs. Glazer; Arthur Richman, author of "The Awful Truth," the screen story in which Miss Claire is being starred; Harry Edington, business manager for Mr.
Gilbert, and a group of newspaper men. The party went to the National hotel for luncheon.

The wedding party, occupying a private car attached to a Union Pacific train, arrived in Las Vegas at 1 o'clock this morning from Los Angeles. Some 2,000 men, women and children were gathered on the platform to greet the famous visitors.

They spent the afternoon in Las Vegas and arranged to leave by airplane this evening for Los Angeles.
Both will return to their respective studios and go to work. The honeymoon will come later.

A wedding breakfast will be given to friends in the screen colony tomorrow morning at Gilbert's Beverly Hills home.

Netchers on Honeymoon.
Hollywood, Cal., May 9.—(AP).—Constance Talmadge, vivacious film actress, was honeymooning at Santa Monica with Townsend Netcher, Chicago merchant, today. They were married yesterday at the home of bustier Keaton, her screen star brother-in-law. It was the actress' third marriage and Netcher's second.

The bride had previously married and divorced John Pasioglou and Captain Alastair Mackintosh. Netcher's first wife was Gertrude Selby, Chicago actress.

Newly Bought Plane Kills
Pilot on Its First Flight

Mount Holly, N. J., May 9.—(AP).—

Edward M. Marshall, 27, making his first flight in a plane he had bought today, was killed and his passenger, Walter Becker, 42, was seriously injured tonight in a crash in a field between here and Burlington.CARBARY SEIZES WOMAN; CHARGE IS BUYING LIQUOR

State's Attorney George Carbary of

Elgin, the reform prosecutor of Kane county, announced that through the arrest of a woman for buying liquor he thinks he has established a precedent, "not only for Illinois but for the nation." Mrs. Helen Ambrose, who with her husband, John, operates the Washington hotel at Elgin, was the woman taken. She confessed, according to Carbary, to purchasing booze from an Elgin bootlegger, Louis Bogza.

In placing the charge against Mrs.
Ambrose the prosecutor said: "Most people are of the opinion that under the law only those who sell, manufacture, or have illegal possession of liquor can be prosecuted. They are mistaken. The Illinois prohibition act provides that those who purchase can also be prosecuted."

According to Carbary, John Ambrose was arrested several months ago for selling liquor and was fined $200 and costs. On March 7, an Elgin policeman noticed that Bogza, the bootlegger, was making frequent trips to the hotel. Carbary said officers found Mrs. Ambrose's daughter in bed and beneath the bed covers there was a gallon of moonshine.

DRY MURDER OF SCHOOLBOY, 17,
STIRS CONGRESSWhere Will It End?
Asks Copeland.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 9.—[Special].—News of the killing of a Virginia school boy by Volstead enforcement, and the refusal yesterday of a local grand jury to indict the policeman-slayer of a 21 year old youth, stirred vigorous denunciation of the "shoot to kill" enforcement policy at both ends of the capitol today.

Aroused by the grand jury's exoneration of Policeman Clyde O. Rouse, who shot and killed O. H. Fleming three weeks ago, Representative C. H.
Brand (Dem., Ga.), a lifelong dry, told the house that in spite of the verdict he regarded the boy's death and all of the scores of killings charged against prohibition enforcers as "plain murders."

In similar vein, other house members and senators condemned the killing of J. W. Kendrick, 17 year old Abingdon, Va., boy, by liquor law enforcers last night, and endorsed the efforts which the boy's relatives and friends are making to have the killers prosecuted as murderers.

Intolerable, Says Copeland.
"The killing of young Kendrick was little short of, if not actually murder," asserted Senator Royal S. Copeland (Dem., N. Y.). "How long, O, how long will the American people tolerate these repeated violations of their rights and liberties in attempts to enforce an unenforceable law?"

"It is time that the people began to understand the psychology behind this wave of prohibition murders," declared Representative F. M. La Guardia (Rep., N. Y.). "The police and dry officers are making big graft money out of prohibition. They can't shoot or arrest the people from whom they are getting graft. So they must intimidate the others in order to make a showing."

"You never hear of the big boot-legger, who nightly pilots truck loads of liquor along the highways, being killed or molested. It is the innocent persons and the little violator who are the victims of the guns of these officers."

Wisconsin Member Indignant.
"This," declared Representative J.
C. Schaefer (Rep., Wis.), "is another tragedy which is the price of prohibition. Even the most ardent prohi-bitionist must begin to realize that he and his family are not safe on the public highways any more."

"Every officer who kills in the name of prohibition should be prosecuted to the limit for murder," said Representative R. H. Clancy (Rep., Mich.). "These indiscriminate shootings are bringing all law enforcement into disrepute."

Mr. Brand, who was a Georgia state judge for years, drew upon a score of legal precedents to substantiate his contention that arresting officers, exposed in self-defense, are justified in killing only when the person pursued or to be arrested is charged with a capital felony.

"To hold otherwise," declared Mr.
Brand, "would imperil the right of personal liberty and the lives of innocent citizens."

The Georgian insisted that adoption of the "shoot to kill" policy made the dry law enforcers, judges, jury, and witness, giving him alone the authority to decide the question of taking human life in order to make an arrest."

Uncle Vows Vengeance.
Abingdon, Va., May 9.—[Special.]—
While the body of John W. Kendrick, college boy victim of dry officers' bullets, was being lowered into a grave today the lad's wealthy uncle, William R. Kendrick, vowed to spend his last cent, if necessary, to bring the boy's murderers to justice. Meanwhile the students of Emory and Henry college voted today to ask Gov.
Byrd to investigate.

The three Virginia officers who fired at the automobile in which Kendrick was riding—James McReynolds,
J. H. Worley and James Crowe Crawford—were arrested, given a preliminary hearing and released under $5,000 bonds. The grand jury will investigate the case May 27.

According to the officers, the driver was commanded to stop, but Kendrick's companions declare they were not ordered to stop.

"The officers were not justified in shooting just because they thought there were bootleggers in the car," the boy's uncle stated tonight. "I will not rest until the men who killed my nephew are punished."

Fess and Borah
in Battle Over Farm Bill Vote[Details of the fight in both houses of congress over the farm bill and the related tariff bill appear on page 7.]

Washington, D. C., May 9.—[Special].—Bitterness between the regular and radical Republican senators as a result of the senate's enactment of the farm debenture plan over the opposition of President Hoover came out into the open today. Senator Simeon Fess (Rep., O.), the Republican whip in the senate, in a letter to Marshall Shepley, Toledo, O., business man, denounced Senator William E. Borah (Rep., Idaho), who deserted the administration to vote for the debenture scheme.

Describing Senator Borah as a "pseudo Republican," Senator Fess declared that after persuading President Hoover in the face of the warnings by other party leaders, to call the present extra session, the Idaho senator took the lead in scuttling the President's farm relief program.

Replying, Senator Borah said that for three years he has advocated the debenture scheme as the most immediate and certain method of farm relief, and added: "In the support which I sincerely gave Mr. Hoover, I did not get the idea that I was to be deprived ever afterward of voting upon public measures in accordance with my own views."

Fess Remains Special Session.
"I foresaw the danger [of a special session] and urged with all my influence against it," declared Senator Fess in his letter to Shepley. He continued that President Hoover was led to disregard his advice by the insistence of Senator Borah.

"Senator Borah, the one person responsible for the special session," the letter continued, "refused to go along with the President and supported the debenture."

"Senator Nye, another who had sought the President's promise of a special session, went against the President. Senator Brookhart, who had done such valiant service for the President in the campaign, early broke away from the President and became his most bitter critic on the floor of the senate."

"While the debenture will not be in the law when it reaches the President, the result of the senate's vote to the country is most unfortunate. It means ultimately a complete coalition between the Democrats and insurgents and a consequent furtherance of the project I have no doubt that the necessary appropriation for completion of the waterway will be forthcoming at the next session of congress. Otherwise the issue will be, in my opinion, extremely uncertain."

The President considers the lakes to the gulf channel the key project of his big Mississippi valley waterway program.

He wants to see commerce moving from Chicago to New Orleans at the earliest possible moment, believing that such commerce will increase rapidly and will create a demand for the development of tributary channels of water transport.

This system of waterways furnishing cheaper transit to seaboard and an all water connection with the Panama canal Mr. Hoover believes, will remove to a large extent the handicap of the central states in competing with seaboard centers.

U. S. Making New Survey.

At the instance of the President, the war department engineers are conducting a resurvey of the Illinois river project to determine whether the completion of this work will require more than the $3,500,000 authorized by congress two years ago. The engineers also are preparing to examine the status of the work on the state link between Lockport and Utica to determine how large an appropriation by congress will be necessary for the completion of that section.

When these Illinois links are complete there will be a channel of a depth of not less than 9 feet between Chicago and New Orleans.

If the amount of diversion of Lake Michigan water eventually allowed by the Supreme court in the Chicago water diversion case should be sufficient for through traffic between Chicago and the gulf of no further authorization would be required.

Jadwin Estimates Diversion.

Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, calculates that a diversion of 5,000 cubic feet of water per second will be necessary to prevent obstruction of through navigation by the effluent of Chicago sewage after the completion of the Chicago sewage treatment works. The present diversion, including water for domestic purposes, is 10,000 second feet.

The project from Utica to the mouth of the Illinois river, a distance of 230 miles, provides for a channel of a minimum depth of 9 feet and width of 200 feet, for the construction of two locks and dams and the removal of the two state dams.

Work on this project will begin within a few weeks. The contract for the dredging between Peoria and the mouth of the river has been awarded to the R. C. Huffman Construction company of Cleveland, O., for $215,228. This section is to be completed by the fall of 1920.

Representative William E. Hull (Rep., Ill.), member of the house committee on rivers and harbors, pronounced action by the legislature at this session to build bridges imperative.

Cities Pledge Seaway Support.

Springfield, Ill., May 9.—(AP)—Representing cities along the Illinois river from Joliet to Peoria, a delegation of 100 city officials, chamber of commerce executives and farm bureau advisers today called upon Gov. J. L. Emerson to pledge cooperation toward the completion of the Illinois waterway.

Organization of the Illinois Valley Waterway association was perfected at a luncheon. W. I. Hibbs, Ottawa, was elected president and L. C. Carroll, Ottawa, secretary.

Legislature Ready to Speed Gulf Waterway, Igoe Says

After reading dispatches saying that the Hoover administration is prepared to ask congress for funds to complete the Lockport-Utica section of the lakes to the gulf waterway, providing the state will build the necessary bridges, members of the state legislature last night declared their belief that the administration's wishes can be met without delay if Gov. Louis L. Emerson will indicate that he will sign a bill appropriating the necessary $3,000,000.

Whether the governor is favorable to such a step could not be ascertained. Reached by telephone last night the governor said he was not yet ready to announce his position. As to the questions raised by the national administration's announcement Mr. Emerson said:

"This is a matter of such great importance to Illinois, a matter in which we are all so anxious to obtain the best and speediest results, that I cannot discuss this new development without more thorough information, or without direct advice from Washington."

Igoe Agrees With Good.

Representative Michael L. Igoe of Chicago, who is a member of the house appropriations committee, unqualifiedly endorsed the position of Secretary of War James W. Good that Illinois could not, with good grace, ask congress to appropriate for the bridges and that the state should do all it can to discharge its obligations before asking for federal aid.

"It is my belief that my colleagues in the legislature would welcome Gov. Emerson's decision to cooperate with the government to the fullest," said Representative Igoe. "I am convinced that a bill supported by the governor to provide funds for the bridges would be passed before the adjournment of the present session of the legislature without any difficulty."

Say Its Up to Governor.

Other legislators said the situation hinges entirely on the governor's decision as to whether he will adhere to his stand that the bridges should be built by the government, or will subscribe to the opinion of Secretary Good. On his recent trip to Washington on waterway matters Mr. Emerson took the position that the government should appropriate $5,000,000 which would include money for the bridge work.

The adjournment of the legislature is expected in two or three weeks.

FATHER SHOTS SON AS YOUTH DEFENDS MOTHER

Nickolas Patet, 29 years old, stepped between his quarreling father and mother last evening, hoping to restore peace in the flat at 3123 West 11th street, where all three lived.

The parents, John and Lena Patet, had been bickering for three years but their strife last night became more bitter than usual. John accused his spouse of extravagance. She retorted sharply and he raised his fist.

Then Nickolas intervened. Father and son wrestled in the kitchen, upsetting the table and chairs. As the dishes crashed, the mother rushed down stairs, screaming for the police.

As she reached the vestibule there was a shot. She crept back upstairs to find her son face down on the floor with a spreading red stain on his white shirt. He was removed to the county hospital where surgeons found a bullet lodged in his lung.

Half an hour later, Sergt. Dan Healy and his squad came upon the elder Patet a mile from his home at 18th and Hastings street, muttering curses. At the Marquette police station he confessed the shooting and was locked up without being charged, pending the outcome of his son's condition, which the surgeons described as critical.

Negro Boy Says Teachers Beat Him; Asks $10,000

Thomas A. Hall, 10 year old colored school boy, yesterday filed a $10,000 damage suit in the Circuit court against two teachers of the Shoop grade school. The suit, brought through the boy's mother, Mrs. Charlotte Hall, 1519 West 112th street, charges the teachers with administering a severe beating for a supposed infraction of schoolroom discipline.

GERMANS ASKED NOT TO MARCH MEMORIAL DAY

Disabled U. S. Vets' Post Says It's "Too Soon."

Declaring that it is still "too soon after the war" for former German soldiers to march with American veterans in the Memorial day parade, two representatives of Chicago chapter No. 2, Disabled American Veterans, last night requested the League of German World War Veterans to abandon plans for participation in the parade.

The Germans were meeting in the hall at Paulina street and Belmont avenue when Charles D. Wiggins, and Stanley Behnke, representing the Disabled Veterans' post, entered. Mr. Wiggins, acting as spokesman, said that it was the "sentiment" of the organization he represented that their former foes had best remain absent.

Invited by Committee.

Otto Schwarck, a member of the German league, countered with the statement that his countrymen had been invited to participate by the Memorial day committee and that they would march unless that invitation was withdrawn. He objected to the Italians, Belgians, and others being included if the Germans were not.

"Didn't we all fight in the same war," one of the Germans asked, "and neither side for any good reason?"

"Yes," another voice interjected; "we fought for patriotism while you Americans were fighting for money."

The German organization has a membership of more than 90 former soldiers in the Kaiser's armies, now residents of Chicago. Thirty of them were attending the meeting.

Marched First Last Year.

The former opponents of the A. E. F. made their debut as marchers in Chicago's Memorial day parades last year, when a delegation of 150, preceded by a color guard bearing the flag of five German military organizations, participated. They wore civilian clothes, most of them decorated with iron crosses. They took part, Mr. Schwarck said at that time, as the request of the American Legion.

The disagreement this year, it was intimated, will be carried to the Memorial day committee.

Legion Movie Show Raided by Police; Three Arrested

The Rev. Philip Yarrow, superintendent of the Illinois Vigilance association, and a police squad under Lieut. Michael Layhart, stopped a movie performance for men only, given under the auspices of the North Shore post of the American Legion last night in the Broadway armory, Broadway and Thorneville avenue.

Three men, Herman Brank, 6475 Hirsch street; Rex Solce, 5097 Glenwood avenue, and Emory Friend, 1519 Lunt avenue, were arrested.

HOOVER DISCUSSES FLOOD CONTROL FUND FOR LEVEE DISTRICTS

Washington, D. C., May 9.—(AP)—A committee of senators and representatives from Mississippi valley states was informed today by President Hoover that he would study the question of the necessity of additional legislation to reimburse local levee districts on the main stream and its tributaries for flood control work.

The President indicated he desired to take some time in inquiring into the matter. The possibility appeared that if the legislation appeared necessary the question might be added to the agenda of the extra session, but a number of the committee held the view it could be settled by administrative orders.

The committee told the chief executive it was the intent of congress in the enactment of the 1928 flood control act to provide such protection for the local levee districts, but that the army engineers had taken a different view, believing reimbursement should be made to the districts only in certain instances.

FORGETS CUT ON HEAD; IT MAKES HIM FORGET ALL

It seemed like a trivial accident to John J. Flynn, 38 years old, when he stumbled and cut his forehead against a wheelbarrow while working with a road construction crew at Byron, Ill., last Sunday. A friend placed a bandage on the abrasion and Flynn gave it no further thought. But when he got off a Milwaukee train at the Union station yesterday his memory was gone.

In a daze he spoke to a railroad guard, who called the Des Plaines street police. All afternoon the young man sat in the station squad room striving to recall his name, his age, his friends, and his last place of residence.

His effort was futile and a policeman finally escorted him to the Iroquois hospital. Attendants there found in the abrasion an infection which apparently had penetrated the brain.

Flynn was taken to the psychopathic hospital where his recollection appeared to be returning last night. Meanwhile, from a list of telephone numbers in his clothes, the police obtained the name of Mrs. Margaret Schubert, 2552 Shakespeare avenue, who identified Flynn as her brother.

HOUSE REVIVES STATE INCOME TAX PROPOSAL

Farmers Get Their Bill Put on Calendar.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Springfield, Ill., May 9.—(Special.)—By a vote of 72 to 59 the Illinois house of representatives today infused enough life into the moribund state income tax bill to place it on the calendar for further consideration.

Last Tuesday the revenue committee of the house voted to recommend that it do not pass, and it was by overriding this report that a majority of those present today kept alive the threat to impose a heavy new burden on the wage earner and rent payer.

Two factors contributed to the skirmish victory. Because of a rush to get away to the noon trains, debate was shut off and the opposition was not allowed to lay the scheme as it was prepared to do. The other factor was pressure from the lobbyists of the Illinois Agricultural association, representing farmers whose cash incomes may be small, but whose real incomes include most of the living expenses of their families on their farms, and are, therefore, exempt under this law, and who pay property taxes that would wipe out any assessments on such cash incomes as they have.

Five More Votes Needed.
But even so the farmers and their friends did not make sufficient showing of strength to indicate that they can put the bill over when it comes up on passage. For that, the law requires 77 votes, 5 more than were recorded today. Two of the 72 announced on the floor that their votes today did not mean they would vote for enactment. Two others said privately they intend to vote against the bill later, their votes this morning being protests against the summary action of the revenue committee.

All Cook county legislators are opposed to the tax. Therefore, no help is expected from that direction. And there were only seven downstaters absent who might possibly vote for the bill, but about whose intentions nothing is known.

Has Only Bare Chance.
On the basis of these figures the tax scheme has only a bare chance of getting votes; and it is further pointed out that while the members opposed to the bill are unalterably against it those who voted to keep it alive include a number with open minds. An old timer said today that the outcome of the fight depends largely upon what the members hear from their constituents between now and final action on the bill.

Downstate cities and communities already have begun lining up with Chicago against the tax. That was shown on the test roll call when 13 downstaters joined with 46 Cook county members in making up the opposition total of 59.

In that lineup, men from Peoria, Rockford, East St. Louis, Rock Island, Joliet, Freeport and other cities began a swing that is expected to show added strength when the bill comes up on second reading for amendment, and a referendum clause is offered. That probably will happen next week. The roll call in full follows:

AGAINST THE TAX.

Ault, Blackwell, Breen, Church, Clark, Cole, Crowley, Devine, Duroso, Elrod, C. D. Franz, Gaines, Galvin, Garrison, G. H. Gormley, Graham, Green, Harris, Holton, Jokes, Igoe, Jacobson, E. A. W. Attack Is Vigorous.

Had it not been for the desire of many members to get away on noon trains for the week-end recess, the attack on this bill would have been the most vigorous assault heard this session. Even when it was broken up by loud demands for an immediate roll call, the heat equaled anything displayed this year. And there was almost no defense for the bill.

Representative David Hunter Jr., who made the motion to nonconcur in the revenue committee's adverse report, said little except that the committee action was hasty; but Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg, who replied to him, denounced the proposed tax.

Chicago's Position Defended.

He opened up by defending the committee action, said that the opponents of the tax had reached their decision and it could not be changed, and asserted that in view of the questionable constitutionality of the bill lengthy consideration would have been a waste of time. Then he launched into an attack against the downstate attitude toward Chicago, particularly on the question of apportionment.

"This tax is not a solution of our financial problems," he said. "We ought to center our activities on an amendment to the revenue article of the constitution, but an attempt to pass such an amendment minus protection for Chicago is useless so long as Chicago is denied its just representation in the assembly."

CONDON RESIGNS PARMELEE POST; SON CARRIES ON

Patrick J. Condon, after serving the Parmelee Company of Chicago 50 years, stepped out yesterday to allow his son, Charles J. Condon, to carry on. Mr. Condon resigned his office of general superintendent, a position he rose to from a worker in the ranks, while his son, who has been ten years with the company, becomes president of the Parmelee Transportation company.

The Parmelee Transportation is the name of the firm which last week acquired the Parmelee company of Chicago and the Yellow Cab company. Charles Condon succeeds Charles A. McCulloch, the retiring president of the Parmelee company. Scores of friends and business associates of Mr. Condon and his son were on hand to say farewell to the father and congratulate the son.

During his long term of service, Mr. Condon has seen the baggage transfer business pass through all of its transitions, from horse to automobile and fast trains; and he recently supervised the establishment of transfer relations with air lines entering the city.

CLARKE DEAN SEEKS HIS P DOG—GETS P

Lodged in Cell, H
Into Scandina

Clarke Dean Jr., the Swedish, who has been in various courts—civil, criminal and juvenile—since he married Mrs. J. J. Dean last July, was ready last night to be exonerated from the charge of creating a disturbance in the city.

Despite his fear of being arrested for constitutional challenge to settle a matter, the ten-hundred-dollar fine was levied against him. He was locked up for the night, but he was released after he became reconciled with his wife, who had been in the city since she was a child, and tried to learn the language of the Scandinavian tongue in the adjoining city.

Dean's latest escapade concerns not his estranged wife, but his dog, a small, white, fluffy creature, which he had taken to the city for a birthday gift before he was arrested. A week ago, when he was released from a cell, he was told by a police officer that his dog was a dog leash, her recent transformation of the hotel room with floral tributes to her husband's flowers and from the Dean family hotel last night, proclaimed her dog more than a dog and accused his wife's Margaret Getzoff, of keeping him.

Mrs. Getzoff denied the charge, but she was arrested and taken to the city hall, where she was held for a night. She was released after she was told that her dog was a dog leash, her recent transformation of the hotel room with floral tributes to her husband's flowers and from the Dean family hotel last night, proclaimed her dog more than a dog and accused his wife's Margaret Getzoff, of keeping him.

CLARKE DEAN JR. SEEKS HIS POLICE DOG—GETS POLICE

Lodged in Cell, He Delves Into Scandinavian.

Clarke Dean Jr., the devoted young husband, who has been in and out of various courts—civil and police—since he married Mrs. Josephine Seelander last July, had his ball ready last night when the police extricated him from a brawl he had created in the Cass hotel, 640 Cass street.

Despite his fear of being tardy in the hall street this morning, his attorney for constitutional rights, and his challenge to settle the issue by settling the ten huskiest policemen in the Chicago avenue district, J. Clarke Dean was locked up for the night. Soon thereafter he became reconciled to his fate, assumed the alias of Ole Swenson, and tried to learn the rudiments of the Scandinavian tongue from the policeman in the adjoining cell, who happened to be a Swede.

Seeks Police Dog.

Dean's latest escapade, it seems, concerns not his estranged wife, but the handsome police dog he gave her for a birthday gift before their marriage. A week ago, Mrs. Dean had recovered from a beating which she says her husband gave her with a dog leash, her repentant husband transformed the hotel lobby into a bower with floral tributes.

Mrs. Dean rejected her repentant husband's flowers and moved away from the Cass. Dean went to the hotel last night, proclaiming that he loved the dog more than Mrs. Dean, and accused his wife's friend, Mrs. Margaret Getzoff, of keeping the animal.

Mrs. Getzoff denied the charge and called Dean a drunken bum. Dean responded with stronger language, which caused other guests of the hotel to stand up from their chairs and impelled Mrs. Getzoff's husband, Benjamin Getzoff, to take off his spectacles.

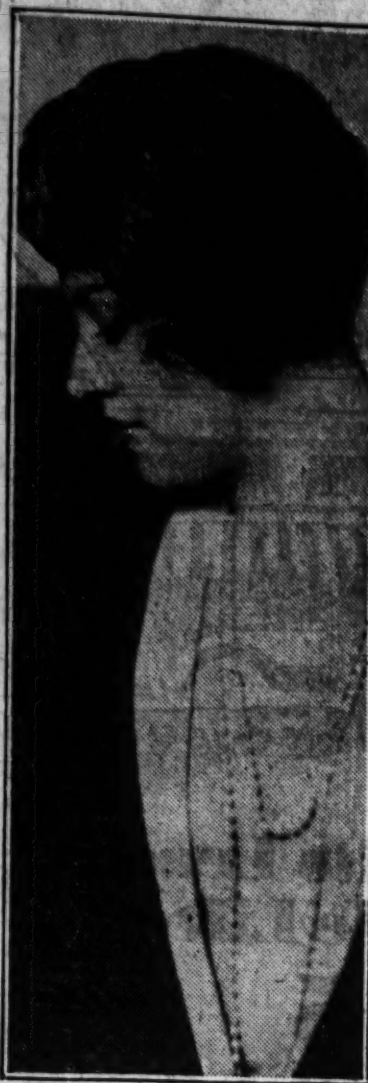

Police Halt Hostilities.

Dean stripped off his coat, ready for a fray, but the hotel clerk called to police before he landed a blow on his adversary. Dean stands 6 feet 2 inches high and scales 230 pounds. Mrs. Getzoff is a slender man, 6 inches shorter.

"Dean again, Sarge," said the prisoner jovially when the squad steered him into the station. "Here's $200 in cash bond. Now let me go out there."

He was cajoled into a cell on the promise that he would be released after half an hour. Some hours later he was pounding the bars and ranting Swedish profanity when John R. Heath, attorney for the elder Dean, a millionaire, walked into the room. The lawyer looked at the prisoner and then talked to the lieutenant. Dean, the lawyer said, ought to remain in the cell. He did.

ON HONEYMOON

MRS. BENJAMIN E. BOGAEUS.

Benjamin E. Bogaeus, wealthy young Chicagoan and head of three business concerns bearing his name, was married on Wednesday to Miss Ethelind Terry, whom he met last winter when she appeared here in the cast of "Rio Rita," it was learned yesterday. The marriage took place in Atlantic City. The couple will leave on Sunday for a two months' honeymoon in Honolulu. Mr. Bogaeus, who is 26 years old, is head of the Bogaeus Construction company, the Bogaeus Investment company, and the Bogaeus Management company. His bride's age was given as 24 years.

Swanson Appoints Five New Assistants to Staff

State's Attorney John A. Swanson announced yesterday that he has made five new appointments to his staff. Those appointed assistant state's attorneys are J. Kent Green, who was assistant to Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court; Leonard M. Rice, 2935 Fullerton avenue, defeated candidate for alderman of the 16th ward; Stephan A. Thiede, 2216 Marshall boulevard; Walter E. Johnson, 5354 North Spaulding avenue, and Homer A. Dodge of the firm of Englund, Dodge & O'Toole.

The taking of testimony in the third trial of Senator James Leonardo and three other henchmen of Morris Eller, city collector, will be started this morning in Judge Frank Comerford's Criminal court, where yesterday the jury was sworn in after two weeks of examination by attorneys and the judge. The jury was completed as both the state and the defense came to the end of the forty peremptory challenges allowed to each side.

The investigation of jury fixing attempts, disclosed by Judge Comerford and turned over to State's Attorney Swanson for action, showed one sign of life yesterday. Senator Leonardo, accused of going to the home of Paul Harders, 11250 Edgemoor avenue, a Denison precinct captain in the 17th precinct of the 9th ward, before Harders offered a bribe to Michael Hepp, 11244 Indiana avenue, a venireman, was taken before the grand jury.

Leonardo Refuses to Talk.

Outside of telling the grand jurors his name and address and admitting that he is a state senator, Leonardo remained silent, it was reported. Leonardo told the jurors that on the advice of his attorneys he would refuse to answer any questions about the jury fixing charges. He refused to sign an immunity waiver.

No trace was found yesterday of Fred Heiser, owner of a printing shop at 38th street and Archer avenue, one of the men named in connection with the alleged bribery plot. The last word from him was that he was on his way to Springfield.

Jurors Who'll Try Eller Men.

The jurors who will try the four Eller henchmen are: Eric Walters, 147 29th avenue, Maywood; Nicholas Biesboer, South Holland; Edward Streik, 2423 South Kolin avenue; David N. Moore, 2418 Wilcox street; H. W. Smith, 10244 Avenue H; Paul Bartolain, 5328 Byron street; Herman Lindeman, 345 Ashland avenue, Evanston; Robert J. Grund, 2115 Sawyer avenue; E. J. Piper, 2307 North Lincoln street; Ernest J. Hellstern, 4146 Potomac avenue; William Peter, 2119 South Oak Park avenue, Cicero, and John Weiss, 1612 Clybourn avenue.

SUNNY PROTESTS USE OF LAKE AS DUMPING GROUND

Fears Contamination of Water Supply.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

B. E. Sunny, former south park commissioner, yesterday protested to Commissioner of Public Works Richard W. Wolfe against the threatened contamination of the south side water supply.

The plan is to make Harbor District No. 3—a large lake area between 18th and 31st streets—a dumping ground for the city's refuse to provide a fill on which to build a lake front airport. Ald. John S. Clark (30th), chairman of the council finance committee, urged this utilization of the lake for 3,500,000 cubic yards of refuse yearly to save the city approximately $1,000,000 annually and at the same time, to provide a fill for the proposed airport. Commissioner Wolfe is reported to have lent such an attentive ear to the scheme that he has ordered City Engineer Gayton to prepare estimates of the cost of a breakwater to hedge in the dumped refuse.

Calls Plan Impossible.

"I doubt if this proposal was made with your authority," reads the letter Commissioner Wolfe received yesterday from Mr. Sunny, "for the reason that the plan is utterly impracticable and impossible."

The water intakes on the south side were originally much farther from shore than they are since there has been an encroachment upon the lake with islands and outer drive. Any disturbance of the lake bottom along the shore, either by dredging or filling in, contaminates the water at the intakes within a few hours.

"When the south park commissioners were building the outer drive, refuse consisting of ashes and excavations from new buildings was used for filling—garbage being carefully excluded—and the effect was so injurious that the commissioner of health

SIX INDICTED CAPTAINS TO DEMAND SEPARATE TRIAL—RETAIN SHORT

Attorney Benedict J. Short, veteran lawyer, has been retained as counsel by the group of six police captains recently indicted in the slot machine syndicate investigation. It was announced yesterday. Attorney Short said that as soon as the trial of the Eller henchmen is concluded in Judge Frank Comerford's court he will take steps to obtain immediate trial for the indicted police officials.

"Our first move will be to get a separate trial for the group of captains," Mr. Short said. "We will then demand that an early trial be granted, inasmuch as the men are public officials and entitled to vindication at once if the state cannot produce evidence to convince a jury."

The captains, who were made co-defendants with Dr. William H. Reid, Thompson politician, and 21 other men, are Michael Delaney, Michael Tobin, Patrick Collins, Hugh McCarty, Richard Gill, and Dennis Malloy.

stopped the work. He insisted that before any filling be dumped into the lake a base of clean sand be used up to one foot above the water line. This specification was carefully observed, but even at that any hard rainstorms caused the lake water to be more or less polluted by the material dumped on the sand fill.

Requires Base of Sand.

"Before you can do any dumping in Harbor No. 3, it will be necessary to create a base of clean sand in from 18 to 23 feet of water up to one foot above the lake level, which would require two or three years at least, and cost from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000."

Mr. Sunny is chairman of the board of directors of the Illinois Bell Telephone company and was a member of the south park commission when the trouble over dumping took place.

Train Hits Auto; Child

Killed, Five Others Hurt

Monmouth, Ill., May 9.—(AP)—A child was killed and three women and two other children seriously injured in a railroad crossing accident at Smithshire, southwest of here. A Santa Fe train struck the automobile driven by Mrs. William Root. Her daughter, Doris, four years old, was killed.

THREE CHILDREN UNDER 10 YEARS KILLED BY AUTOS

Woman, Hit by Car on Sidewalk, Dies.

Three children under ten years of age and two adults died yesterday as a result of automobile accidents. These deaths raised the 1929 Cook county toll to 259. The victims:

Ellnor Kerstein, 8 years old, 1734 North Lincoln street. Ran into the path of an automobile while in front of 1562 Milwaukee avenue. She died at St. Mary's hospital. Joseph Bronowski, 2835 North Central avenue, the driver, was held.

Harold Moore, 8 years old, 2121 West Roosevelt road, died in the county hospital of injuries received on Wednesday when he was struck by an automobile near his home. The driver, E. E. Southel, was not held.

Alonso Foster, 4 years old, colored, 8121 Federal street, died in the county hospital of injuries suffered on Wednesday when he ran in front of a truck driven by Walter Nickson, 1730 North Albany avenue.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jesik, 25 years old, 867 West 19th street, fatally injured when she was struck on the sidewalk by an automobile which collided with another car at 18th and Morgan streets. The drivers of both cars abandoned their automobiles. The license numbers of the cars were traced to John Rakowski, 2014 South Peoria street, and Joseph Pulido, 1347 South Peoria street.

Unidentified man about 35 years old. Fatally injured when he was struck by an automobile driven by Thomas Stencil, 813 West 35d street, at 37th and Halsted streets. Stencil did not stop but was arrested a short distance away and locked up.

Willard Chapman, 4 years old, 1119 Cambridge avenue, was seriously injured when he was struck by a hit-and-run motorist near his home. The boy was treated by Dr. P. B. Collard in his office at 601 West Division street and taken to his home over the physician's protest.

HUNT 'DEAR MAN FRIEND' AFTER DANCER'S DEATH

Los Angeles, Cal., May 9.—(Special.)—Following statements from "Mickey" Moran, theatrical manager, and Mildred Harris, Charlie Chaplin's first wife, police are trying to identify an unnamed "dear man friend" who sent money to Delphine Walsh, 22, Hollywood dancer, a week prior to her death from an illegal operation. Moran said Miss Walsh had planned to leave for Vancouver and take a yacht trip to Alaska with the "dear man friend" next week.

Moran said he had learned through his wife, who had been the dead girl's chum, that Miss Walsh had received "a lot of money" in a letter from the man in question.

Mildred Harris denied a report that she had accompanied Delphine to the wedding of Josephine Walsh, her sister, in San Francisco recently.

Two physicians in the case are out on bail of $15,000 each, charged with murder.

FARM DIST PEPS UP D ON TARIFF

Central States
Low Prote

BY ARTHUR CR
Washington, D. C.
[Chicago Tribune Special.]—Agricultural duties on farm products today began to rise as a result of the tariff bill passed by the House of Representatives. The bill, which passed by a vote of 241 to 159, will raise duties on a number of farm products. The Senate is expected to pass a similar bill. The bill will also raise duties on a number of farm products. The bill will also raise duties on a number of farm products.

FARM DISTRESS PEPS UP DEBATE ON TARIFF BILL

Central States Oppose Low Protection.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., May 9.—(Special.)—Agricultural distress in its various phases today kept debates at a white heat in both houses of congress. Duties on farm products were under fire as inadequate as consideration of the tariff bill began in the house.

Republican representatives of eight central states met to make plans for an insurrection against the farm bill.

The senate, in continuing discussion of the farm bill, became involved in a clash between senators desiring to protect commission merchants from possible elimination as a marketing agency and senators eager to obtain the benefits of the legislation for fruit and vegetable growers.

Consideration of an amendment by Senator Royal S. Copeland (Dem., N. Y.) to exempt fruits and vegetables from the operation of the bill continued most of the day, but without action.

Robinson Flays G. O. P. Plan.
During the senate debate, Senator Joseph T. Robinson (Dem., Ark.), minority leader, denounced a plan proposed by administration house leaders to refuse to reconsider the farm bill from the senate on the ground that the senate exceeded its constitutional authority in attaching the export debenture provision.

Senator Robinson contended that the debenture scheme was in no sense a revenue proposition such as must originate in the house under the constitution. Senator George H. Moses (Rep., N. H.) told the Arkansas senator that he was confident the house would send the farm bill back to the senate instead of sending it to conference and that he hoped it would do so.

Meanwhile house leaders at a conference studied the situation, but made no definite decision as to whether to be followed with respect to the debenture provision.

The opening round of the fight over the tariff on the floor of the house resulted in a defense of the bill by Representative Willis C. Hawley (Rep., Ore.), chairman of the ways and means committee, and an attack on its provisions by Representative John Garner (Dem., Tex.), ranking minority member of the committee.

Central States Fight Low Duty.
Earlier in the day the full ways and means committee met and formally reported the bill as introduced by Representative Hawley. The vote in the committee was 15 to 9, the Republicans voting solidly in the affirmative and the Democrats in the negative.

A new Democratic member of the committee, Representative S. B. Hill (Wash.), was recorded as present.

The eight central states which were represented at a meeting of protest on inadequate duties on farm products were Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Missouri, and Kansas.

Dissatisfaction was expressed regarding duties on dairy products, vegetable oils, cattle, and haxeased. Objection was made to a milling and bond provision applying to wheat.

There was criticism of the failure to place duties on hides and leather and over the failure to impose a duty on coconut oil from the Philippines. Sharp criticism was expressed also against the imposition of duties on shingles, lumber, cement, brick, and other building materials.

Study Procedure Today.
Representative L. J. Dickinson (Rep., Ia.) was delegated to urge a postponement of action by the conference of all Republican house members, which is to be held tomorrow afternoon for the consideration of the form of a rule to be applied to the discussion of the farm bill in the house.

The Republicans desiring higher rates on farm products will oppose any rule which limits the offering of amendments to the agricultural sections of this bill. The party leaders displayed no disposition today to open up the bill for amendment, but indicated that it was possible that tomorrow's conference would not decide definitely the procedure and that adjournment might be taken until some day next week.

Dissatisfaction on the Republican side of the house as well as among the Democrats was evident during the debate in the house. Representative Hawley was questioned by both Republicans and Democrats who object to the bill in its present form.

Representative J. C. Schafer (Rep.,

Wis.) protested because Milwaukee leather manufacturers had been turned down on a request for a duty on calf leather. Mr. Schafer declared the industry is facing bankruptcy because of excessive importations.

Urges Duty on Hides, Leather.
A split within the Republican membership in the ways and means committee on the question of a duty on leather was indicated when Representative Frank Crowther (Rep., New York), a member of the committee, asserted that there should be duties on hides, leather and shoes.

"If there is any industry to which the President's yard stick for tariff protection should apply," said Mr. Crowther, "the leather industry is one."

Representative John D. Clarke (Rep., New York) declared there should be a duty on shoes.

Representative Hawley told the house that between 15 and 20 per cent of all of the duties in the tariff law had been boosted in the bill. He insisted that President Hoover's formula of raising rates only on products of industries where decreased employment was evident had been followed.

He admitted there were few decreases in the bill.

Garner Fights Farm Rates.

Representative Garner, who is known as a protectionist, assured the house that he had hoped to be able to vote for the tariff bill.

"If you had had the decency to raise agricultural rates to the level of other industries I would have voted for the bill," said Mr. Garner, in addressing the Republican framers of the measure. "But you gave agriculture a few little tidbits and then raised duties on other commodities in such a way as to cost the farmers of the country from 300 million to 500 million dollars."

"I would have liked to vote for the bill as a means of taking the tariff out of politics."

"As it is, I don't see how it is possible for any man who has a conception of his duty to the government to vote for this bill."

Representative Garner described provisions of the bill as "unconscionable," and asserted that it was "one of the most indefensible bills ever offered."

Flays G. O. P. on Casein Rate.

The Democratic leader ridiculed the arguments advanced by the Republican members of the ways and means committee for failing to increase the duty on casein, a milk product, as demanded by dairy interests.

"You didn't give a greater duty to the farmer because you did not want the paper manufacturers to pay the price," said Mr. Garner. "You said that cow's milk in the United States is not as good as cow's milk in Argentina. The duty on casein should have been increased from two and one-half cents per pound to at least six cents per pound."

Mr. Garner exhibited a map showing the sections of the country represented by Republican members of the ways and means committee. He pointed out that eleven of the fifteen come from states east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio. The eastern section of the country, he said, dominated the framing of the tariff bill, intended primarily for the relief of agriculture.

HEARINGS ON 46 PUBLIC PROJECTS TO BE HELD TODAY

Public hearings on forty-six improvements which will cost approximately $5,500,000 will be held this morning by the board of local improvements in the council chambers at the city hall. The projects include three large sewers, resurfacing of a system of south side streets, and the paving of a number of other streets. The work, if endorsed by the property owners who are affected, will be paid for by special assessment.

The three sewer systems are the Monroe street, the Addison Heights, and the Devon avenue systems.

ASSESSORS SEE DOOM OF NEW TAXING SYSTEM

Can't Survive a Legal Attack, They Say.

The Cook county reassessment program, nearing completion at a cost of $2,400,000, is doomed to a legal but none the less certain death in the opinion of members of the board of assessors who yesterday held their second indignation meeting to vote against the state tax commission's latest order and the suggestions of the citizen's advisory committee.

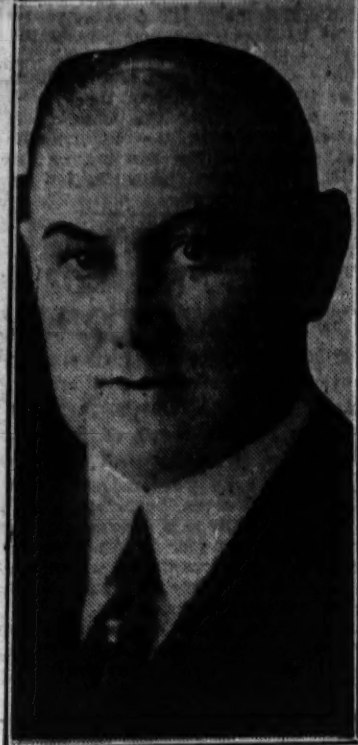

The assessors declared that too many hands, seeking to be helpful, are engaged in the work. They declared mistrust in the competency of the elected assessment directors to return an equitable tax return. All agreed that participation of various governmental agencies in the workings of the new program affords loopholes through which the law might be employed to invalidate almost a half year's work.

Conroy Voices Complaint.
"Everybody knows what the reassessment is about but the assessors," said Assessor John E. Conroy. "We have the county board in here, better government associations, self-appointed vigilance outfits, state commissions, the city, and the state's attorney's office. And we, who were put here by the people, don't know what our taxes will be on a lot if we own one."

"Now with all these fellows around it comes out that one of the assistant state's attorneys assigned to watch the assessment was formerly in Silas Strawn's law office. Some one will sure jump in and stop the works by saying the bankers are running this thing. And once they start, who knows what may happen as the result of all this gratis advice we have been following?"

Slaps at Efficiency Expert.
"Take this guy Jacobs (J. L. Jacobs, county efficiency expert). Who is he? When I first met him he was a bar polish salesman working with the Anti-Saloon league at the same time. What kind of a fellow is he to give advice? I'd like to know how he got to be a C. P. A. (certified public accountant). And there's more like him. After it's all over his like will clean out and leave us to take the blame."

Chairman Charles Krutchkoff closed the meeting by announcing that Director Harry S. Outmore has been invited to remain as a permanent director to perpetuate the reassessment system in future assessments. Director Outmore, who was offered an annual salary below his present $75 a day rate, took the offer under advisement after indicating that he may not accept.

Never Knew He Had Sister; Meets Her After 45 Years

Racine, Wis., May 9.—(AP)—A man here today met a sister he never knew he had, after living unknown to each other for 45 years. O. J. Bradley and his sister, Edna, were separated when, children, Edna, living in California, learned of her brother's existence a few weeks ago and arrived here today.

RUSSELL ADVISES CHICAGOANS HOW TO FOIL THIEVES

Precautions which Chicagoans are advised to take against being robbed by pickpockets were listed yesterday by Commissioner of Police Russell in the weekly police bulletin. The instructions follow:

"If your watch is lost or stolen, you should be able to give the police its case and movement number. Carry a book with you containing descriptions of this character, as they are a great aid to recovery."

"Always be careful when you get into a crowd. Keep your coat buttoned. Don't show your money in places where you are a stranger."

"Be suspicious of any one who jostles or pushes you in a crowd. Pickpockets locate valuables in this manner. A check book is far safer than carrying large sums of money on your person."

"When you fall asleep in a street car, elevated, or bus, you are an easy mark for a pickpocket."

ARMY AIR CORPS BUILDING FUNDS ASKED IN HOUSE

Washington, D. C., May 9.—(AP)—Acting Chairman James of the house military affairs committee today introduced a bill to authorize the expenditure of $4,529,354 to carry on during the fiscal year 1932 the construction of special and technical buildings at army posts for the army air corps.

The measure is in accordance with the general plan adopted by congress in 1924, Mr. James said, for the development of the army air corps under a five year program. The bill will not be taken up until the regular session of congress.

SEIZURE IN GAMBLING RAID.
A raid on an alleged gambling house at 810 North Clark street yesterday afternoon resulted in the arrest of 24 men and the confiscation of race betting equipment, $301.75 found on a table, and other gambling paraphernalia. Leo Raggio, 117 West Huron street, and Herman Gerber, 55 West Ontario street, were charged with being the keepers.

INSTITUTION TAX IDEA OF SENATOR TAKEN FOR RIDE

Find Remains of Proposal in Subcommittee.

BY CARL WARREN.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Springfield, Ill., May 9.—[Special.]

Senator Harry M. Dunlap's proposal for a special statewide tax of 1 mill for the improvement of Illinois penal and charitable institutions, it was learned today, has been quietly chloroformed and laid to rest, apparently at the instance of legislators friendly to the state administration.

Information that the tax plan has been abandoned came to light after the upper house wound up its activities for the week and adjourned until next Tuesday.

Senator Dunlap originated the special institution tax idea two weeks ago at a meeting of the senate appropriations committee, suggesting that the committee draft it into a bill and present it at this session. He pointed out that such a levy would bring in a revenue of $3,500,000 a year.

Emmerson Opposition Suspected.

The committee appointed a subcommittee to visit Gov. Emmerson to find out if he would sanction such a bill, and a few days later the subcommittee returned with the word that the governor was noncommittal. Revival of the plan before the committee had been expected, but inquiry

THE DAY IN SPRINGFIELD

SENATE.

Plan for $3,500,000 a year special tax for state institutions abandoned.

Passed Heubach bill to exempt stocks to be handled by Chicago Curb association from blue sky law.

Passed Marks bill to allow Chicago Municipal courts to try all criminal cases except where life imprisonment or death are penalties.

Passed Cuthbertson bill to allow downstate cities to vote special one mill tax for street lighting.

NEW BILLS.—By Hanna, to require owners of lakes or ponds contiguous to drainage districts to maintain adequate levees; by Barbour, to prevent double taxation when one piece of property is a lien against another which is also assessed.

HOUSE.

Revived state income tax bill, placing it on the calendar.

Passed bill appropriating $10,000,000 to common school fund for the biennium.

Passed Chynoweth bill to permit levy of tax for airports by downstate park districts.

Amended Mancini 15 round boxing bill to allow all bouts, title or otherwise, to go 15 rounds.

Passed Bohrer senate bill to make public all state pay rolls. Now goes to governor.

NEW BILLS.—By efficiency and economy committee to create sanitary water board, consisting of directors of health, agriculture, conservation and purchases; by Tice, appropriates $170,125 for dam and lock in Fox river; by Charles Johnson, requires trappers to visit traps every day; by Elmer C. Wilson, to require operators of aircraft to obtain a certificate from the federal department of commerce.

to hurry the bill along, it had rested on the speaker's table for nearly three weeks.

An attempt by Senator Lowell B. Mason to advance the Chicago water bond bills to third reading in the upper house met with failure when Senator Thomas J. Courtney announced that he intended to submit amendments putting a restriction on the amount of bonds to be issued and probably another setting a time limit. The bills likely will be called for amendment Tuesday morning.

Under pressure from the Thompson city administration, the water bond bills sailed through the house of representatives without a hitch, despite the fact that they will allow the city to issue an unlimited amount of 6 per cent bonds, without a referendum, against the water fund which already is $12,000,000 in debt. Senator Courtney's amendments, it is believed, will precipitate a lively battle indicating the strength of the Thompsonites in the upper chamber.

Curb Securities Bill Passed.

The most important of the bills passed was that of Senator Arthur A. Heubach of Chicago to exempt securities which the Chicago Curb association plans to list from the provisions of the blue sky law.

The important Chicago sanitary district bond bill, passed by the senate on April 8, made its first move in the lower house today, when Speaker David E. Shanahan referred it to the waterways committee. Despite the efforts of the drainage board lobbyists

WOMAN'S TRIAL IN JONES LAW CASE ON JUNE 5

Chicago's first Jones law jury trial, doubly interesting because the defendant is a woman, was set for June 5 yesterday by Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward. On that day Mrs. Cecilia Black, 3100 Fillmore street, mother of three children, will go on trial for possessing and transporting liquor. If convicted she becomes eligible to a fine of $10,000, five years in the penitentiary, or both.

Mrs. Black entered a plea of not guilty through her attorney, Brig. Gen. John V. Glinnin, yesterday and will thus be tried by a jury. Judge Woodward gave Gen. Glinnin leave to file a motion to suppress the evidence on the ground that it had been obtained illegally.

Mrs. Black was arrested March 15 by two South Chicago policemen who found a five gallon can of alcohol hidden beneath bundles in her automobile. Prohibition agents went to her home and while there discovered a still and a quantity of whisky mash in a basement room.

COMMITTEE O. K.

ON $12,030,000 FOR U. OF I. PROGRAM

Springfield, Ill., May 9.—[Special.]

Appropriations totaling $12,030,000 to the University of Illinois for the next two years, including $2,500,000 for a new building program, were recommended today by the senate appropriations committee. The bill, it was reported, has the approval of Gov. Louis L. Emmerson.

Two new building projects in Chicago are included in the program. These are medical and dental laboratories to be located on the grounds of the Chicago Research and Education hospital. The structures will cost approximately $1,500,000. The other $1,000,000 provided for in the program is to be spent on the Urbana campus.

SCIENTISTS GET MANY PHOTOS OF SUN IN ECLIPSE

Gather Priceless Data in Three Minutes.

MANILA, May 9.—(AP)—Astronomers from Hamburg, Germany, and Washington, D. C., who brought tons of instruments half way around the earth for a four-minute clear view of the sun in eclipse were successful today at Iloilo, central Philippines.

The sun's corona, visible only during total eclipse, was photographed through huge telescopes upon the ground and from two airplanes 5,000 and 10,000 feet above the earth in rare atmosphere.

As a result, it is hoped that something further may be learned of the composition of the corona, which may reveal the secrets of the atom and the ultimate structure of the universe. The scientists also hope by study of the photographic plates to learn something of the chemical composition of the corona, its origin, its relation to sun spots and the rapidly with which it takes shape.

Eclipse Lasts Four Minutes.
Four astronomical expeditions pointed their instruments at the sun from Philippine stations for about five hours, during which it was partly obscured by the moon with totality only four minutes.

The largest of these expeditions was the well-equipped one from the naval observatory at Washington headed by Commander C. H. J. Keppeler. This expedition and that of Dr. Reginald L. Waterfield of Johns Hopkins University and Dr. Wyndham E. B. Lloyd of London were stationed at Iloilo along with directors of the Manila observatory.

At Sogod, island of Cebu, the University of Hamburg's expedition took its stand but was unfortunate when clouds obscured the eclipse.
Get Many Photographs.
Reporting the successful observations at Iloilo, Commander Keppeler said that the naval eclipse program was completed as scheduled, "securing 13 various exposures on plates with the 55 foot camera and 46 others with two polar axis and celestrial cameras." The eclipse was visible only in a shadowy path about 100 miles wide that extended across the Indian ocean eastward from Africa through Polynesia into the Pacific. Along this pathway were stationed several astronomical expeditions but reports received here indicated that weather conditions in the Philippines were far more favorable than elsewhere for the observations.

As seen from Manila, about 90 per cent of the sun's face was obscured.

Program Carried Out in Full.

Washington, D. C., May 9.—(Special.)—The naval observatory's expedition at Iloilo in the Philippines reported a successful observation of the total eclipse of the sun today.

Weather conditions were excellent, with only a very faint veil of cirrus clouds near the sun, and the expedition's program to study the corona of the sun was completed according to schedule, Commander C. H. J. Keppeler, in charge of the party, reported.

A motion picture party at Antiqua obtained pictures and other photographs and observations were made from two planes in the air. Radio tests were conducted by the destroyer Hulbert at Iloilo.

The corona effects of the total eclipse will not be repeated for a quarter of a century, and the corona was intensively studied.

Besides a study of the Einstein problem, the program included spectrophotometry of the Chromosphere and corona both in the red and in the ultra-violet, a study of solar radiation near and through totality, experiments to test the effect of totality on radio transmission, relative intensities of the lines of the coronal spectrum, improved measurements of the wavelengths for the coronal lines with a spectrograph of high dispersion, and an examination for displacement of the dark lines of the outer corona with a slit spectroscope of high dispersion.

A study also was made of coronal rotation with a falling plate spectrograph and interferometer and with a quartz spectrograph, and also a special study of the shadow-band phenomenon.

The navy's expedition sailed from San Diego on Jan. 28 for the Philippines. Commander Keppeler was accompanied by Prof. William A. Guggenheim of the University of Indiana, and Astronomer Paul Hellenberger, technical supervisor of the naval observatory's time service and an expert observer.

BRIDGE CRASHES ARE MERE TRIFLE TO SANDMASTER

Only 2 Out of 44 Serious, Owner Declares.

The Construction Materials company, with offices at 228 North La Salle street, owner of the boat, Sandmaster, famous for its bridge-racing activities, is operated by J. J. Shanahan, president, and a board of directors which includes David E. Shanahan, speaker of the house at Springfield, and John J. McCarthy, chairman of the board of the R. F. Conway company, a paving concern, was revealed yesterday.

R. F. McCarthy is treasurer of the company and R. H. Chittenden is secretary. Other directors are Peter White and Lawrence A. Holleb. Shanahan and McCarthy are the principal stockholders. It was learned that the R. F. Conway company, of which McCarthy is the head, was one of the four paving concerns incorporated in 1923 on charges that a "paving trust" existed in Chicago which monopolized the city's paving business.

Replies to City's Charges.

"Mr. Shanahan put his own money into the business," Mr. Sensibar said. "He never received any gifts from any firm which would obligate him to render political favors to the business. We are tremendously in debt to him, not for political influence, but for his capacity as a business man."

Shanahan, who is in Springfield, declared that he had been a director in the company only since a reorganization which, he said, occurred about five months ago.

Referring to figures released by city lawyers Wednesday, showing that the sandmaster had damaged thirteen of the city's bridges a total of 44 times in the last three years, Mr. Sensibar went into a detailed refutation of the charges, declaring that only two of the 44 accidents were serious.

Damages Trifling, He Says.

"The injuries caused to bridges were, in the main, trifling damages to wooden planks and ladders," he said. "They were caused by the carelessness of the city, not the carelessness of the boat's captain. The sandmaster has made 1,300 trips on the river. The only two serious accidents were those at the Cortland street bridge in January, 1927, and recent damage to the Clark street bridge."

"The Cortland street bridge accident was caused partly by failure of the city to dredge the river bottom. There is a depth of only 14 feet in the river whereas it should be 22 feet deep. The Clark street bridge accident was due wholly to the failure of the bridge to operate properly. The city says it is going to sue us for damages on this latter accident. I want to say that we are preparing a suit against the city for damages done to our boat and we will accept."

HUNT CAUSE OF DEATH.

A police investigation to determine how Otto Thompson, 55 years old, 4750 Dearborn boulevard, received a fracture of the skull that caused his death yesterday morning in the county hospital is being conducted.

ASKS $250,000

PEARL BAREMORE.

New York, May 9.—(Special.)—Pearl Wilma Baremore, who has shared in a thrilling cycle of Park avenue and Broadway adventures in the last five years, has sued Draper M. Daugherty, son of ex-Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, for $250,000 for breach of promise, it was learned today.

Her marriage last March 3 to Maj. Joseph Patrick Goodman, a broker, is no obstacle to her suit, she declared. Daugherty married Estelle Sturges on last July 12. Miss Baremore swears that Daugherty promised to marry her on July 15, 1928, during the course of a romance that bristled with startling incidents—including her helping him to escape from a Stamford, Conn., sanitarium, where he fled to avoid quizzing after the murder of Dot King.

Last October Miss Baremore filed suit in Probate court at Chicago against the estate of George A. Thorne, wealthy broker, who died last May, for $3,000 which she said she had loaned to Thorne in Havana, Cuba, after he had lost money betting on the races.

CONFEDERATE WOMEN TABOO LINCOLN DAY

New Orleans, La., May 9.—(AP)—The Louisiana division, United Daughters of the Confederacy, in session here today, asked that mothers who are members of the organization discourage their children in the schools from observing Abraham Lincoln's birthday. A resolution was adopted discouraging observance of Lincoln's birthday but failing to place the members officially on record as positively against the memorial.

Mrs. W. B. Kernan, state historian, said: "We all know that Lincoln was not a great man. We know he was not the fine Christian gentleman he is said by partisan historians to have been, and how can southern children learn this truth of history if they go around paying homage to his memory?"

JUDGE MAY RULE TODAY IN CANAL OUSTER FIGHT

Trustees Defend Delay in Filing Report.

The seven holdover trustees of the sanitary district, against whom the state's attorney instituted ouster proceedings for their failure to file a biennial report on Nov. 30, defended their position yesterday before Superior Judge Hugo Pam. The arguments in their defense will end today and Judge Pam is expected to rule on the state's motion for permission to file suit.

The trustees contended, through their attorneys, that a precedent of twenty-two years' standing vindicates their failure to file on the legally set date. This argument was offered by Attorney John J. McInerney, representing James M. Whalen and John J. Tuohy. It was amplified by Albert J. Pink, representing Lawrence F. King, John K. Lawler, and August Miller.

Berger His Own Lawyer.

Trustee Frank J. Link will offer his defense along the same line today through his counsel, John W. Dalley. Trustee Henry Berger is acting as his own attorney in the hearing.

The attorneys argued that the date set by the statute is inconvenient and not suited to present procedure. They held that the report should be returned during a session of the legislature, and pointed out that this method has been followed for 22 years. Attorneys McInerney and Link declared that the public suffered no loss because of the delayed filing. This fact should be proved to warrant the present action, they held. Attorney McInerney also argued that the statute is not specific in naming the punishment for failure to conform with the law as removal from office.

Indicate Long Fight.

Both attorneys declared ouster as a final measure, holding that state of catastrophe would follow such an order. They painted a picture of the effects of curtailing the district's activities and indicated that an unfavorable decision would be fought in higher courts with the resulting ill effects of the law's delay.

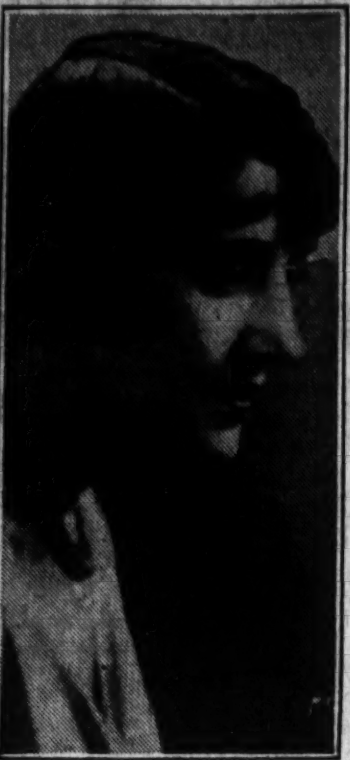

The trustees appeared in court on a motion by Special Assistant State's Attorney David D. Stanbury, as counsel for Frank J. Loesch, prosecutor in the sanitary district inquiry, suing as a citizen and taxpayer for leave to file a petition in quo warranto.

600 Barrels a Day Oil

GIRL SOUGHT IN QUIZ OF HARVARD JUNIOR'S DEATH

Windsor, Conn., May 9.—(AP)—Hunt for a "dark haired, slender girl" was started by detectives today in connection with the death of Walter Treadway Huntington, 20 year old Harvard college junior, whose body was found yesterday in a field, a bullet wound in the head.

Search also was ordered for Claire Kenelly, for five years the Huntington family chauffeur, whose attentions to the student's widowed mother were said to have been opposed by young Huntington. The .32 caliber revolver believed to have been used in the shooting has not been found. Residents near the farm on which the body was discovered told today of a coupe which several times parked near the spot where Huntington was found. In the machine, they said, was a dark haired, slender girl and a boy.

Georgian Socialists Seek British Aid Against Soviet

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

LONDON, May 9.—A delegation of the Georgian Socialist party headed by the famous leader, Gogotskori, arrived in London today seeking assistance against the soviet. The leader called upon Ramsay MacDonald, who is an old friend, to enlist his sympathy in the event that labor is returned to power.

CELEBRATE MOTHER'S DAY

WITH LOBLAW'S TEMPTING DELICIOUS FOODS

Always the Finest of Domestic and Imported Delicacies As Well As Famous and Familiar Nationally Advertised Foods—Not "Something Just As Good"

Mothers... who have had so much experience in practical home economics appreciate that Loblaw's is truly a "different idea" in grocery merchandising. That's why they love to shop at Loblaw's unique Groceries every day. They keep in step with things modern as much as their daughters... that's why you'll find them at Loblaw's today and every day.

Loblaw's is truly a Mother's idea in grocery merchandising. It is planned and arranged just as her own pantry at home—to make shopping effortlessly simple. Every mother likes this homelike atmosphere... where employees never attempt to sell "something just as good," but where they keep everything "sunshiny bright and spotlessly clean."

Everyone can be happy on Mother's Day and every day by improving not only the quality, but the variety at every meal with fine foods from Loblaw's.

You can get foods at Loblaw's that were once considered luxuries and only for the feast days of Kings or millionaires. The choicest old world and domestic foods are conveniently displayed at every Loblaw Groceteria, and surprising as it may seem they are sold for less today and every day.

Mothers... young, smart, fashionable... always in step with "new ideas" of this ever changing modern era are quick to appreciate that Loblaw's is a "grocery service" as far advanced as the new, voguish cars which they ride to Loblaw's in. They like to shop for the best for less, as it's the smart thing to do.

BRITISH SEIZE 10 IN CHINA FOR PLOT TO FREE INDIA

Report Kuomintang Party Is Involved.

BY JOHN POWELL.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
HANGHAI, May 9.—British authorities here have arrested ten prominent local British Indians on charges of "seditious activities." While no official statement has been issued and the trial has been conducted in camera, it is reported that the Indians are involved in a widespread plot against British rule in India.

The ten Indians arrested are all members of an organization called the Eastern Oppressed People's association, which for the last three years has maintained an office at Nanking, from which propaganda favorable to Indian independence has been mailed to all parts of the world, particularly the United States.

Membership includes Koreans. It is reported that the organization, in addition to receiving protection from the Kuomintang party, includes in its membership many Chinese, Koreans, and a few so-called Japanese proletarians.

The British allege that the Indians conducted propaganda, beginning in 1917, against the action of the British government in sending two regiments of Indian Sikhs to China, thus causing discontent among the troops, and resulting in two officers being arrested and sent to prison in India.

It is also alleged that they are responsible for the murder on March 6 of another prominent Indian revolutionary, Harchan Singh, whose decapitated body was found on the outskirts of Shanghai. The head was found in another part of the city.

Charge Tiep with Chinese. The British also allege that the Indian revolutionists in China are working in conjunction with the Kuomintang and were responsible for arousing the Chinese over alleged British territorial aggressions between Burma, Tibet and the Chinese province of Yunnan.

The Chinese declare that the territory of upper Burma, about the size of the state of Texas, has been cut off from China and annexed to Burma.

and that the British in recent months have sent a large force of troops to that area, which is located to the east of the Irrawaddy river and north of Mandalay.

The British have arrested twenty-two Indians here since 1922, all of them charged with sedition, and all have been sent back to India for life imprisonment.

Office Marauder Slugs and Robs a Girl Clerk

A short, stocky man, wearing a dark cap and sweater but coatless, walked into the Allied Employment agency on the eighth floor at 173 West Madison street yesterday, demanded a job of Miss Yvonne James, 27 years old, the clerk who was alone in the office, and struck her over the head with a brass name plate when she attempted to summon assistance from a next door barber shop. Before leaving the robber snatched $52 from the girl's purse. Police believe he is the same marauder who similarly assaulted Miss Nellie Carr, a manicurist and beauty prize winner, in her shop at 8 North Clark street a few weeks ago.

MICHAELSON KIN NOW IS HELD FOR THAT LEAKY TRUNK

Gramm Arrested as Congressman Is Freed.

place in Port au Prince, about the three alleged casks of rum, and other incidents of a night in Haiti.

"What cruise are you talking about?" he remarked, as he massaged his chin.

"The one discussed at your trial," he was told. "Did you do these things reported to have happened in Haiti?"

The congressman from Chicago shook his head. His face flushed and his eyes flashed. "Where we went or what we did is nobody's business. I don't want to hear any more about this. I don't know any of those people you are talking about. I have nothing to say to you at all."

This is the story told here of a dry voting congressman's day and night in a tropical seaport which he is reported to have turned into a free port before he sailed away.

Mr. Michaelson landed from the steamer Cristobal at Port-au-Prince Sunday afternoon, Dec. 18, 1927. The steamer was cruising between New York and Panama. Before the congressman had been in port an hour he tried to argue in English with a French chauffeur and won a fair sized audience, so the story goes. The argument, it is reported, soon developed into a quarrel and then graduated to an altercation.

At this point, so the story runs,

Capt. R. R. Shaker of the guard d'Haitien, who is assistant chief of police of the port, intervened with the idea of assisting Mr. Michaelson. The congressman is reported to have turned his ire on the captain and berated him for his pains. Capt. Shaker withdrew from the fracas.

Famous Bar in Port-au-Prince.

There was a lull in the congressman's activities until that night, when it is reported he appeared at the bar terminus, principal center of the night life of Port-au-Prince. The bar terminus is a celebrated saloon and cafe on the Champ de Mars, only a stone's throw from the United States marine headquarters, and is crowded nightly with military men, diplomats, tourists, and the Haitian elite. The proprietor of the bar is Albert Widmair, an American, who was manager of the Edelweiss and other Chicago cafes in the pre-Volstead era.

Shortly after dark, according to the story from Haiti, Representative Michaelson hove to in the bar and went in for rum buying in a big way. He is said to have obtained three 15 gallon barrels of rum and personally conducted the liquor to the wharf off which the Cristobal was anchored. When the barrels were on the wharf and Mr. Michaelson was reported to be preparing to have them stowed away on his ship, Marcel Brea, a Haitian customs inspector, interrupted the proceedings.

All goods exported in wholesale lots, Brea is said to have informed Mr. Michaelson, must pass through the customs house and pay an export duty. Now, 45 gallons of rum is a wholesale exportation, Brea ruled.

"But, my man, I am a congressman from Washington," Mr. Michaelson is reported to have informed the customs inspector.

"What is that?" asked Brea.

Storms at Officials.

Mr. Michaelson, so the story goes, continued to endeavor to impress Brea, who insisted on detaining the congressman on the dock with his rum. Under the surveillance of the uniformed Haitian customs guards, Mr. Michaelson is reported to have become highly excited and violent. He is said to have stormed at the cus-tons official while the wharf was rapidly filling with passengers embarking on the Cristobal after their afternoon ashore.

Finally, the thwarted congressman, is said to have offered Brea $50 to allow him to take the rum aboard the ship. It is not revealed whether Brea accepted the $50 or not, but it is of record that he reported to his superior officers the American congressman's alleged demand for free export of liquor.

Brea telephoned to D. P. Johnson, deputy collector of the port and is said to have explained that Mr. Michaelson was on the dock with 45 gallons of rum which he desired to take aboard the Cristobal without payment of the prescribed export tax.

After a protracted telephone conversation, Johnson is said to have instructed Brea to release the rum and allow Mr. Michaelson to take it aboard the ship without payment of the export tax or other formality.

When last seen in Port-au-Prince, according to the story, Mr. Michaelson was conveying the three barrels of rum aboard the Cristobal.

Mr. Michaelson appears to have rather unique ideas about free entry and free ports. Since he has been down here tilting with his own government the Key West Citizen has been telling the natives in hold type and behind quotation marks that the congressman had a great love for the city and was going to make a free port out of it when he got back to Washington.

This afternoon, the natives are reflecting sadly that Mr. Michaelson has done an about face.

"He hasn't had a word to say since his acquittal about what he's going to do for us on the rivers and harbors bill when he gets home," said one disillusioned citizen. "Why, the fellow would not even talk to me about it this morning."

Nevertheless, the flag still fly over the little red brick government building and two of Mabel Willebrandt's boys who couldn't catch a congressman are out in the gulf trying to catch a fish. Key West is not quite a free port.

Mr. and Mrs. Michaelson departed for Washington tonight. Mr. Gramm left on the same train for Chicago.

KING MICHAEL COMMEMORATES ROUMANIA UNION

(Chicago Tribune From Service.)
BUCHAREST, Roumania, May 9.—Young King Michael today performed his first official act in writing. The 7 year old king wrote in the golden book which commemorates the uniting of his country: "May the good God defend and strengthen the union."—(Signed) Michael.

Celebrations are in progress throughout the union of Roumanian territories obtained by the peace treaties, despite the fact that Roumania spent most of the time during the war being occupied by enemy countries.

The present leader of the government, Iuliu Maniu, a former Hungarian subject, today declared an amnesty to all political prisoners, with the exception of those held for murder and theft.

BRITAIN REJECTS ANY CUT IN SHARE OF GERMAN DEBT

Churchill Outlines Stand in House of Commons.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Copyright, 1929, by The Chicago Tribune.]
LONDON, May 9.—A carefully phrased answer, calculated to give the impression that Great Britain has made no surrender at the Paris reparations conference but as carefully avoiding all detail, was made by Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, in the house of commons this afternoon in reply to the questions of Col. Josiah Wedgwood, laborite, and Col. John Grettton, diehard Tory.

The chancellor of the exchequer declared that the reparations conference was composed of independent representatives of the countries concerned and, while he had kept in touch with the British members, he had no time to send telegraphic instructions and did not propose to do so now.

Britain Not Bound to Decisions.
"The experts committee must be left to reach its own conclusions," he said. "Whatever they may be and whether or not the experts are agreed, the conclusions in no way commit his majesty's government, which remains entirely free to review the whole position and make its own decision on the work and recommendations of the experts' committee."

"Therefore, no urgency exists, and it would be premature as well as inexpedient for his majesty's government to pronounce on particular aspects, however important they may be, at the present juncture. However, in order to prevent misunderstanding abroad and alarm at home, it is perhaps desirable to say that the proposals foreshadowed in the newspapers yesterday would, in our opinion be unacceptable and that his majesty's government would in no circumstances entertain them."

Refuses Further Details.
Col. Wedgwood tried to obtain more specific information, asking whether his terms in reference to the reparations experts covered the question of altering the percentages of distribution and whether the house had assurance that the government was not committed to making any gift to France.

To this Mr. Churchill replied that he had fraped his previous answer with great care and declined to make further answer.

However, whether he had the power or not, Sir Josiah Stamp, British representative, in a signed memorandum on April 17, surrendered the British claim to one billion dollars arrears which have accumulated between the signing of the Baldwin agreement at Washington and the inauguration of the Dawes plan. Technically, this may not be a gift to France, but it leaves just as much more German reparations for France and the other allies.

Paris Parley Waits on Schacht.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
PARIS, May 9.—The apparent standstill of the reparations commission while Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, head of the German delegation, continues to take time out to complete the drafting of his reservations to the American memorandum, was interpreted tonight as a possible life saver instead of a loss of time.

Although the French are fuming at the mouth and wailing sarcastic at Dr. Schacht's delay, it is understood that the slow process is resulting in a gradual toning down of conditions, which, together with the close cooperation of all delegates, augers well for eventual success. The German conditions, which were promised for noon today, now are expected some time tomorrow.

Pope Studies Plans for Vatican City Projects

VATICAN CITY, May 9.—(AP)—Pope Pius today received a committee which is in charge of drawing up a general plan for Vatican City. The projects thus far drawn up are for the definite regulation of buildings adjacent to St. Peter's and the papal garden as well as the Vatican railroad station.

$8,933,000 BONDS SOLD TO FINANCE 10 CITY PROJECTS

Funds with which to carry on ten improvement projects were obtained by the city yesterday when Controller George K. Schmidt sold $8,933,000 worth of bonds to a syndicate of Chicago and New York banks. The bond issues had been approved by the voters at elections since 1919.

The syndicate, which submitted a bid of $8,574, is composed of Harris Forbes & Co. of New York, Continental Illinois company, the First Union Trust and Savings bank, Harris Trust and Savings, the Bankers' company of New York, Northern Trust and Savings bank, and William R. Comp-ton & Co.

U. S. MOTTO ON WAR COSTS STILL IS "PAY IN FULL"

Stimson Stops Talk of Reduction.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., May 9.—(Special.)—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson today indicated that the United States is not disposed to make any concessions in order to facilitate the allied settlement of the German reparations problem.

Secretary Stimson denied reports that the American embassy at Paris has appealed to Washington to have this country agree to scale down the sums which the United States receives from reparations as payment for army occupation costs and claims awards. No communications, Mr. Stimson said, have been received from Paris asking this government to reduce its claims.

Secretary Stimson indicated strongly, however, that this country has no intention of receding from its position that the 291 million dollar army of occupation costs and the approximately 250 millions due for claims must be paid in full. It was recalled that the amounts thus far paid of occupation costs are very small compared with those received by the allied powers. The occupation costs still due this government amount to more than 200 millions.

Dispatches from Paris, where the allied representatives are meeting with two American experts in an attempt to fix the total amount of German reparations, have indicated that the allies feel the United States should reduce its claims against reparations.

UKRAINE'S FATE MAY REST WITH LITTLE ENTENTE

Powers Urge Support of Independence Move.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
BELGRADE, May 9.—Important conferences, both political and military, on the agenda for the little entente conference scheduled to be held May 20 to 22.

The French Gen. Lerond, who, holding in trust for the league of nations the delicate area of Upper Silesia, in 1921, virtually turned the territory over to the Polish insurrec-tionists, has already visited the little entente capitals, as well as Warsaw, in preparing general plans so that, in case of war, each nation will know the military objectives from the beginning.

Germany Against Plan.
These plans are to be discussed at the coming conference simultaneously with other international questions, including proposals for supporting the independence movement in the Ukraine. For some time agents of the great powers have been working in the countries bordering Russia, urging that one of the best means of weakening the Red menace has been to encourage independent movements.

Germany definitely refuses to assist in the plan to dismember Russia, but to Poland and Roumania Ukraine independence means the conversion of a hostile into a friendly frontier.

Hungary Believed Friendly.
Roumania has consistently contributed to propaganda for Ukraine independence for some time, a year ago giving out harrowing stories with regard to the brave struggle of the unarmed peasants against the Red terrorists.

It is believed that Hungary is friendly towards the proposals for international support of Ukraine independence, but she certainly is not cooperating with her avowed enemies of the little entente, nor is she signally framed to keep a strong, vigorous, vital people from regaining their majorities lost by treaty, unless her frontiers are revised.

Illinois Alcohol Case to Go to Jury Today at Buffalo

Buffalo, N. Y., May 9.—(AP)—The Illinois alcohol conspiracy case, on trial in federal court seven weeks, will go to the jury at noon tomorrow.
The government summation was completed this afternoon and Federal Judge Simon L. Adler will charge the jury tomorrow morning.

The jury will be asked to decide whether the twenty individuals and two corporations on trial conspired to divert pure grain alcohol, included among the defendants are a former dry administrator, a former assistant administrator, and nine former dry city prosecutor's office signed an insanity complaint against the woman, who was armed with a hammer as well as the shears.

Have Talking Pictures Come to Stay?

By Barney Balaban

This momentous question is on the lips of every man, woman and child, and is entitled to a complete and satisfactory reply.

It is amazing to think that it was less than nine months ago that the moving-picture industry first began to think seriously of talking pictures. It is still more amazing that the remarkable talking-pictures of today, which have stirred the admiration of the whole country, ARE A DE-VELOPMENT OF THE PAST FOUR MONTHS.

The whole subject is so revolutionary, and so vital to the interests of Balaban & Katz, and their countless thousands of patrons, that John Balaban and Samuel Katz made an exhaustive investigation of the progress that is being made.

In Hollywood the center of the industry, they found the great producers, and their associates, electrified by the vast interest manifested by the public and its tremendous response to this new form of entertainment.
They found that MILLIONS OF DOLLARS HAVE ALREADY BEEN INVESTED in special new SOUND studios.

They found the ablest engineers of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the Western Electric Company, the Radio Corporation of America, with their vast resources, actively engaged in the work of improving and perfecting the new idea. These great corporations know so well the limitless possibilities of electricity that they have bent all their energy and ingenuity to the work.

They found assembled many Broadway Stage Producers, leading dramatists, foremost authors, notable stage stars, musical comedy writers who have come to realize the unlimited advantage and scope of the living screen.
Already the remarkable performances in talking pictures of Richard Dix, Mary Pickford, Clara Bow, Buddy Rogers, Nancy Carroll, Charles King, William Powell, Beanie Love, Conrad Nagle and others who have decorated the silver sheet have more than delighted the producers.

The keen studio interest has spread rapidly to theatre owners, and it is evident that not only have talking pictures come to stay, but also that they will lead, in the immediate future, a widespread revolution in theatrical entertainment.

Publix Theatres, in San Francisco, Portland, Seattle and other leading cities have already discarded stage presentations in theatres that have been handicapped by stage limitations. This brings to them all the higher-class plays and vaudeville acts which never were possible in their theatres before—as for example: Eddie Cantor in singing and talking voice—Moran and Mack in their inimitable badinage—

The TOWER Theatre

at 63rd Street and Blackstone Avenue will, on Saturday of this week inaugurate this new form of all-screen entertainment and present its entire bill in voice and sound. This new idea will be introduced by

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS
in his latest and greatest creation
"THE IRON MASK"

There will be further newspaper announcements in which we propose to give you additional intimate details and news of the marvelous talking productions which will appear at all Balaban & Katz theatres.

CALL DOWNSTATE BLUFF WITH PLAN TO REAPPORTION

Cook Senators Agree on Every District.

(Chicago Tribune Staff Service.)
Springfield, Ill., May 9.—Chicago's biennial fight for equality of representation in the Illinois general assembly reached a crisis in the state senate today. Two events brought about an acute situation which will force a show-down.

First, Cook county called downstate's bluff by presenting in the senate a complete remapping of the legislative districts of the state on the basis demanded by the constitution with an agreement of all the Cook county senators behind it.

No Protection for Chicago.
Second, a subcommittee appointed to consider amendments to the revenue article of the constitution broke up in a row when three downstaters approved a draft of a proposal which does not give Chicago and its suburbs the protection from the illegally constituted downstate majority which has been demanded under threat to defeat the proposal by the veto power held by even its unlawfully restricted delegation.

The first action came without any demonstration. Senator Herman J. Haensch quickly presented to the senate a report of a subcommittee of the apportionment committee consisting of himself, two other Cook county senators, Arthur A. Huebsch and Thomas J. Courtney, and two downstaters, Richard R. Meents, and Harry Wilson. He merely asked that the report be printed for information.

Action Is Challenge.
When that subcommittee controlled by Cook county was appointed the action was a challenge. Senator Richard J. Barr of Joliet conceived the idea that the way to end the re-districting fight for this session was to turn the whole thing over to the senators from Cook county on the theory that they could not even agree among themselves as to the districts in their own county.

"We've agreed on every district," said Chairman Haensch speaking of his report. "Every senator from Cook county has accepted the lines we have laid down for his new district. We're ready to go ahead."
"Now the shoe is on the other foot. For fear that the senators from the rest of the state wouldn't even make a start on their end of the job, we have proposed new lines for all the rest of the districts. We have drawn them with absolute impartiality and we think that there are enough fair-minded senators from the rest of the state to join with Cook county in passing the necessary bill. We've made a fair proposition. Now let's see what they'll do."

Increase in Allotment.
The report provides for an increase of five districts in Cook county. This would give Cook county 24 districts, to which it is entitled under the constitution even on the basis of the 1920 census.

The five new districts in Cook are scattered throughout the county. One is created in the south shore district, another on the north side running between Fullerton and Bryn Mawr avenues west of the present 25th district, two on the rapidly growing northwest side and one in the country towns. Merely the technical descriptions of all districts were presented today. The accompanying maps will be ready next week.

Nine downstate districts are unchanged as to their boundaries. These are the following: Eighth, or Waukegan; tenth, or Rockford; thirty-third, or Rock Island; thirty-eighth, or Carlinville; forty-first, or Joliet; forty-fourth, or Murphysboro; forty-fifth, or Springfield; forty-seventh, or Alton; and forty-ninth, or St. Clair district. Four other districts are changed only slightly. The fiftieth district is slightly reduced. The other three are slightly increased in population.

Guy Smith of Pana was unexpected. It was attended by the chairman, Senator Florence Fifer Bohrer, for two sessions an uncompromising opponent of obedience to the constitution, Senator Louis H. Hanna of Monmouth, a first timer, and Senator Arthur R. Huebsch of Congress Park, Cook county, a Chicago lawyer.

Late in the afternoon the impression was created that no final action would be taken. Last week Chairman Smith announced that he and his associates would remain in Springfield this week-end after the recess of the assembly to study their problems. A newspaper man was told no vote would be taken and left the meeting. Then with a suggestion that he had to drive 120 miles before dinner, Senator Hanna moved that the subcommittee recommend to the full committee a proposal drafted by Senator Smith. Senator Huebsch had protested that Cook county could not vote for this proposal because it contained neither the old prohibition against new forms of taxation except by two-thirds vote of both houses or the more recent suggestion of a limitation of the state's share of any new kind of taxation, the greater part to be retained within the county paying it.

Hanna Presses Motion.
Senator Hanna pressed his motion. Senator Huebsch protested further, but the other three were against him, and as the meeting dissolved he bit

YANKS TO BUILD MODERN 50 STORY HOTEL IN LONDON

(Chicago Tribune Staff Service.)
LONDON, May 9.—London is to have an American skyscraper hotel in the heart of Mayfair.

A New York hotel group is completing negotiations for erecting the building upon the site of Lansdowne house, the historic mansion in aristocratic Berkeley square which was built by the famous Adm brothers the latter part of the eighteenth century. It is now occupied as a residence by Gordon Selfridge, head of London's largest department store.

The New Yorkers plan to erect a fifty story hotel with 1,000 bedrooms, the scheme also providing for an "intimate" theater seating 750. Other features will be a swimming pool, sports courts, and a roof garden.

OIL SEEPAGE IN HOSPITAL BALKS PERMIT FOR USE

Oil and gasoline seepage into the basement of the new Passavant hospital building on the downtown campus of Northwestern university, from the adjoining garage at the Yellow Cab company has caused the city building department to withhold a permit for the occupancy of the hospital, it was learned yesterday. The seepage is highly inflammable and would explode if ignited, the building department contended in refusing to issue the permit.

Hospital authorities appealed to Health Commissioner Arnold H. Kegel, who found that wells in the basement of the hospital are filled with a mixture of gasoline and oil. To determine if the seepage is coming from the garage, Dr. Kegel poured a green dye on the garage floor which was found in the hospital basement five hours later.

Attorneys will make an investigation to determine whether the hospital or the garage should bear the expense of shutting out the oil.

GIRL DIES OF INJURY TO LEG.
An inquest into the death of Margaret Leber, 8 years old, 748 West 25th street, who died at St. Bernard's hospital yesterday of an injury to her leg, will be conducted today.

Niels Juul Is Declared Unable to Handle Estate

Probate Judge Henry Horner yesterday found Niels Juul, former state senator for sixteen years and former collector of the port of Chicago, incompetent to manage his estate of $95,000. Mr. Juul, who is 70 years old, has suffered for many years from partial paralysis. The petition for a conservatorship was filed by his wife, Mrs. Ella Imelia Juul. Judge Horner ordered Mrs. Juul and her children to agree on a trust company to manage the estate, which they charged was being dissipated.

Kills Self After Doctor Predicts Death in Year

Los Angeles, Cal., May 9.—[Special.]—James Kevin Grady, 61, assistant studio manager for the Paramount Film corporation, killed himself in the bedroom of his home tonight while his wife and friends waited for him to join them in an automobile ride. Grady had been told by a physician earlier in the day that he had a heart ailment that would cause his death within a year.

SEEKS WOMAN FOR BAD CHECK.
A well dressed woman who passed a worthless check for $75.00 at the Carolyn Wilson shop, 134 East Delaware place, on May 4, was being sought yesterday by police.

ATTACKS 'COST PLUS' SYSTEM OF FIXING 'L' VALUE

James Walker, consulting engineer, was subjected to a sharp cross-questioning yesterday at the elevated fare hearing before Master in Chancery Roswell B. Mason by Congressman Frank R. Reid, representing the city, when Walker admitted he used the "cost plus" system in estimating the cost of reproducing the system's 200 terminals.

Mr. Walker had testified that it would cost more than $108,000,000 to reproduce the elevated system as it stands today. The congressman is attacking these figures as being "twice too big." The crux of the controversy is the appraisal value of the elevated lines which the federal courts will fix. Fare rates are based on invested capital.

At yesterday's session—the 49th since the hearings started last July—Congressman Reid wanted to know if Walker had applied the same liberal war-time "cost plus" method of figuring every item, but Walker indignantly denied this. The forty-ninth hearing will begin at 10:30 a. m. today.

Odd as it might seem to those of us inclined to look upon Balzac as a droll fellow, given more to writing than adorning his figure, one bright sartorial fact is pinned to the man . . . he owned thirty-one waistcoats, at one and the same time, thirty-one . . . purchased at one sitting, with the first funds from his first taste of prosperity. And his ambition, it is said, was to possess three hundred and sixty-five . . . one for every day of the year. How directly the attitude of this famed person is reflected in the man of today! How quickly he of today becomes style-conscious. How anxious he is to indulge his sartorial desires when a measure of opulence arrives . . . and how it has arrived for hundreds and thousands within the last few years. How rapidly the almighty dollars fell into the lap of thousands in the recent bull market . . . and how we all love to dress up. More cravats, more shoes, more clothes, more everything from hats to hose to adorn our figure, not forgetting the fascinating flannel waistcoats of today. But how is the merchant or the manufacturer to reach these new men of money? Possibly, well-worded, uniquely designed and tasteful advertisements in The Sun would secure ready response . . . indeed we know they would, for substantial, aggressive and successful men read The Sun, and abide by it . . . it is their kind of a newspaper, exactly. And . . . 96% of its circulation is within a fifty-mile radius of City Hall Park.

Fear to Be Cast with No Protection

BY CHARLES F. SMITH
(Chicago Tribune Staff Service.)
Manila, P. I., May 9.—The Philippines, under the leadership of the Philippine Commission, are in the best way to eliminate the fear to be cast with no protection.

From a competent assurance that actual independence is not desired because it cannot be waived, the Philippines are in the best way to eliminate the fear to be cast with no protection.

I am confident, after numerous leaders, all of whom, that what is in the same independence, California, Texas and others, which would extend law here, thus trying the leaders, who are now in exploit the islands, as graft cases already exposed.

Mr. Timberlake's assessment of the Philippines already have bounties that they are bringing this comment from the Herald:

"It is true that the have received bounties, take more. It is entitled especially in the public bounties and has a right as the country for America's possessions."

Desire U. S. Protection.
This bares the secret of such independence individual states, yet naval, military, and other American direction.

PHILIPPINES SEEK FREEDOM, BUT UNDER U. S. FLAG

Fear to Be Cast Adrift with No Protection.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
MANILA, P. I., May 9.—Although the Philippine officials, including Eugene Gilmore, acting governor general, and Manuel Queson, president of the senate, are in the southern islands, viewing the eclipse of the sun, Charles E. Timberlake's statement that the best way to eliminate insular competition is early independence, possibly at the next session of congress, is taken seriously.

From a competent authority comes assurance that actual independence is not desired because the American sovereignty gained under the Spanish treaty cannot be waived under the contemplated independence act.

Want Annexation.
I am confident, after conferring with numerous leaders, all of whom cannot be quoted, that what is really desired is the same independence enjoyed by California, Texas and other states acquired by purchase or warfare. Such independence means virtual annexation, which would extend the federal law here, thus tying the hands of the leaders, who are now in a position to exploit the islanders, as revealed by past cases already exposed.

Mr. Timberlake's assertion that the Philippines already have received more bounties than they are able to repay brings this comment from the Filipino press Herald:

"It is true that the Philippines have received bounties, but they could do more. It is entitled to all such especially in the public works, will benefit and has a right to them as much as the country forms a part of America's possessions."
Desire U. S. Protection.
This bares the secret of leaders who seek such independence as is accorded individual states, yet with the same naval, military, and other protection mainland enjoys.

Lineation, unless statutes conforming with American ideas are adopted, the graft with which the islands reek, perhaps reach even a greater sum if American direction is withdrawn.

When the independence debate was, the question of sovereignty is again to become the foremost obstacle, in the opinion of most business and other influential leaders.

LONGER QUARANTINE FOR SCARLET FEVER IS URGED BY PHYSICIAN

A longer quarantine for scarlet fever cases was urged last night by Dr. Archibald L. Hoynes, speaking before the Stock Yards branch of the Chicago Medical society in the People's hospital. He revealed a "disturbing increase" in contagious diseases in Chicago, especially in scarlet fever, which he said ran 100 cases a month higher during the first four months of 1923 than for the same period of 1922.

"The only legal quarantine requirement at present is that of the state department of health, which is twenty-eight days for all cases," he said. "Several years ago I made a test of 1,000 cases, which revealed organisms still present in the noses or throats of 60 per cent of the patients after the twenty-eight day quarantine was over."

"There is little or no excuse for the death of one person to every nine cases of diphtheria, or 15 out of 139, reported for the week ending April 28, Dr. A. G. Bosler declared at the meeting. He placed the largest share of responsibility for this on parents who failed to have their children immunized against diphtheria as they do against smallpox.

Chicago, with 207.8 deaths for each 100,000 population, was second lowest among thirteen cities of the United States in the rate of deaths from influenza and pneumonia for the twenty-two weeks ending March 30.

DOCTORS PREFER DRY EDUCATION TO VOLSTEADISM

New York, May 9.—[Special.]—Brooklyn physicians by a vote of almost 7 to 1 in returns from 228 out of about 3,000 have declared themselves in favor of temperance education as against prohibition enforcement.

In a poll being made by the Medical Times, the doctors have been asked to vote on the question: "Do you favor a federal campaign for temperance, under the auspices of the United States Public Health Service, as a substitute for prohibition, in the interest of the nation's health?"

"The medical profession's expressed judgment in this matter could be a guiding factor in its deliberations and actions," says the Medical Times. "The judgment seems to be that temperance education would afford a sane solution of the problem of alcoholism."

"From a public health standpoint, it is to be presumed that most practitioners of dynamic, public spirited type are convinced prohibition is doing harm."

Many Lives Believed Lost in Mexican Forest Fire

MEXICO CITY, May 9.—[AP.]—Many lives are reported to have been lost in a small village in the Ocotilla mountains, where an extensive forest fire has been raging. Hundreds of persons were made homeless. Medical aid and provisions were being rushed from nearby towns today. The area destroyed by fire was said to be enormous.

SPEAKER WILL CALL EVERY BILL DESPITE SHORT SESSION PLEA

Springfield, Ill., May 9.—[Special.]—Speaker David E. Shanahan made plain to the state house of representatives today his exact thought about the state administration's plans for an early adjournment of the general assembly.

"I don't care who wants a short session," he said, in insisting that the members spend more time at work. "I'm hounded to death by members who want their bills called and I'm going to see that they are called no matter how long it takes."

"We'll have a session at 8 o'clock next Monday night, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday there will be sessions at 9:30 and 4 o'clock, and Friday morning we'll have a session if there are only two members present. I'm not going to have a lot of members going back home in all parts of the state and saying that I wouldn't call their bills."

Gov. Louis L. Emmerson is said to believe that the legislature can finish its work in the next two weeks. This is doubted by many members of both houses.

START BUILDING HANGARS MONDAY AT CURTISS FIELD

Expect Airport to Be Ready by July 4.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

Work on the first and principal unit of hangars at the $1,000,000 Curtiss flying field north of Glenview will be started on Monday and rushed to completion for a Fourth of July opening. It was announced yesterday by Maj. R. W. Schroeder, manager of the Curtiss Flying Service in the middle west.

The first section will comprise three connected hangars with wide sheltered spaces between where planes may be parked. The three hangars will house 60 single motored planes and will be constructed at a cost of $225,000. Later a combined waiting room and administration office will be erected as part of this unit at an estimated cost of $75,000.

The project has been designed as a public show place. From a balcony running the length of the three hangars visitors will be able to view the airplanes stacked inside the building and watch the activity of the flying field.

Student Field About Ready.

Work on the south field, which is to be devoted exclusively to student training activities, is almost completed and the field will be ready for use within the next two days. Maj. Schroeder stated. Student classes will be opened on the first of the month. This field will have its own set of hangars and flying facilities.

The hangar section will be 530 feet long by 130 feet deep, consisting of three main hangars 120 feet by 100 feet and 20 feet high with clear space inside and a "lean to" along one side for student classrooms and shops. The continuous observation deck will be on a level 20 feet above the flying field with waiting rooms for passengers between the deck and the student rooms below. Part of the above deck will be open to the sky so that planes may be viewed without obstruction. Ramps will lead from the waiting room to the field and to a concrete runway on the flying level for passengers to board without intruding upon the flying activities.

Plan Lighting System.

One of the features of the lighting system for flying and illuminating the field will be a helio-electron beacon, an invention of Maj. Schroeder. This light will act by a combination of reflected sun rays and electric flares and will be visible under favorable conditions, 89 miles. The idea of the

AVIATION NOTES

The Junkers plane in which Capt. Ahrenberg, the Swedish air man, plans to fly to America, took off at Desmou yesterday with six persons, including Capt. Ahrenberg, aboard. The seaplane flew to Stockholm where it will take off for its flight across Greenland and Iceland to New York over the route which Bert Hassel and Parker Cramer attempted to fly last year. The Swedish aviator stated that the flight was being made to prepare the way for a regular postal air service to America over this route.

Two pilots of the Interstate Air Lines, flying the mail from St. Louis to Evansville, yesterday were instrumental in saving a mother and two children from possible injury. Flying over Centralia, Ill., at an early hour they noted flames coming from the roof of a house, swooped low and attracted the attention of neighbors who called the occupants from the home and notified the fire department.

The international society for the exploration of the arctic regions by means of aircraft has entered into a contract for the use of the Graf Zeppelin in an expedition from Lenin-grad across the north polar regions to either Nome or Fairbanks, Alaska. It was announced yesterday in Washington.

Gold and black have been selected for the colors of the roofs of the buildings because of the visibility of these hues from aloft.

The buildings were designed by Maj. Schroeder and Robert, Wentworth, Dewey & McCormick, Inc., architects.

VIENNA, May 9.—(AP)—Maj. Wilhelm of Dusseldorf, Germany, renowned airman acrobat, fell out of his plane from a height of 1,200 feet over Aupern aerodrome today and was killed. He had been demonstrating the capacity of the machine, a German sporting plane, to loop both forward and backward.

Czech Passenger Plane Crashes; Three Are Killed

KASSEL, Germany, May 9.—(AP)—A passenger airplane of the Czechoslovak Aviation company, flying from Prague to Rotterdam, crashed today near Althagen, 12 miles southeast of Kassel. The pilot, the mechanic, and one passenger were killed.

POLICEMAN HURT BY FALL. Policeman John Maloney, 35 years old, 601 East 47th place, was seriously injured yesterday afternoon when he fell from the second floor of his home which he was painting. He is attached to the Englewood station.

COMMITTEE TO PICK ILLINOIS BOY TO VISIT EDISON

Springfield, Ill., May 9.—(AP)—Selection of the Illinois boy who will visit Thomas Edison's laboratories and be questioned by the inventor, who is trying to find some one to carry on his work, will be supervised by a committee of seven educators named today by Gov. Emmerson.

Edison has requested that each state and the District of Columbia, select one male student who is the best representative of American manhood and possesses the highest ability in scientific subjects during the school year 1928-1929. These 49 boys will be given a free trip to the laboratories at East Orange, N. J., where they will be asked to answer a questionnaire.

President David Kinley of the University of Illinois was named chairman of the committee. Other members are: Francis G. Blair, state superintendent of public instruction; Dr. L. C. Lord, president of Eastern Teachers college; President E. H. Rammelkamp of Illinois college, Jacksonville; W. J. Bogan, superintendent of schools, Chicago; Justin Washburn, superintendent of schools, Rock Island, and F. L. Eversall, principal, East St. Louis High school.

Estate of Originator of Listerine Put at $7,000,000

St. Louis, Mo., May 9.—(AP)—The estate of Dr. Joseph J. Lawrence, originator of the formula for Listerine, who died twenty years ago in New York, now is valued at between $7,000,000 and $11,000,000 after disbursements of several million dollars to heirs. Testimony to this effect was given today in Circuit court at a hearing on the application of Henry R. Strong of St. Louis, trustee, for authority to end the trust estate as provided in Dr. Lawrence's will and trust agreement.

HOOVER ASKED TO FAVOR DIRIGIBLE MAIL SEA ROUTE

Washington, D. C., May 9.—(Special.)—Paul W. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear Zeppelin corporation, today asked the support of President Hoover for a dirigible air mail route between San Francisco and Hawaii, with a later extension to the Philippines and possibly to Japan.

Mr. Litchfield called at the White House with Senator Theodore E. Burton (Rep., O.), and discussed the lighter than air situation with the President for several minutes. The President, Mr. Burton said later, appeared much disposed to support legislation which would make it possible for dirigibles to carry mail. At present there is no legislation permitting the awarding of mail contracts to dirigible companies.

The Goodyear company is now building two giant airships for the United States navy, and if present plans go through a commercial ship of the same size would be built at once. Mr. Litchfield told the President that the company has plenty of financial backing for its lighter than air transportation system and needs only legislation permitting the handling of mail. He said the airships would cost about $5,000,000 each and would be used for carrying mail, express and passengers. About sixty passengers could be accommodated on each trip.

It's a Small Town after all

OW many of New York's 6,000,000 citizens have the incomes and inclinations that makes them prospects for your product?

Motor car owners? What's the story there? Eighty-three per cent of Manhattan's motors are registered in districts where family expenditures range from $4,500 a year up.

Again, the average salary in New York is $1,567. How many "average" New Yorkers, do you think, are likely to buy your product?

Only 117,343 New Yorkers report incomes of $5,000 or over. Step the minimum up to $10,000 and you have left only 52,464 souls.

Yes. When your job is to sell the people who have money as well as taste, it's a small town after all.

Probably you haven't more than 250,000 real prospects in all this great city. Possibly you have only 100,000—perhaps a scant 50,000.

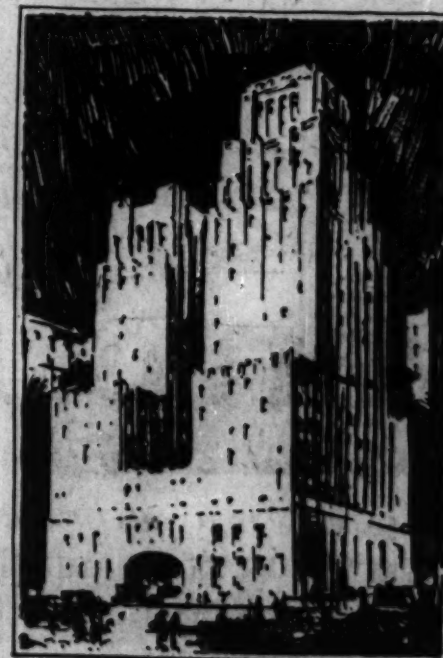

Your job, then, is to select—to pick and choose. You must pick your retail outlets carefully, of course. And no less carefully must you pick the papers in which you advertise... which means that first and foremost on your list of mediums you place the New York Evening Post.

Advertise in the Evening Post and reach
New York's top 100,000

The Evening Post is itself a selective paper—first, last, and all the time. It does not try to be all things to all people. Instead it caters to the person of intelligence and taste. In this way it has attracted over 100,000 readers of the highest type—100,000 people with the inclination and the income to buy such products as yours.

These people you can reach directly and inexpensively through a single newspaper.

Remember—New York is a small town after all and that the Evening Post is the shortest distance between your product and 100,000 prospects.

N. U. DEAN OF LAW ATTACKS SENATE
AS 'FIFTH WHEEL'

U. S. Needs a Mussolini,
He Says in Editorial.

The United States senate is merely a "fifth wheel" in federal government, useless for any purpose except to "talk, investigate, censor, and intrigue," John H. Wigmore, dean of Northwestern university law school, declared in an editorial in the May number of the Illinois Law Review, issued yesterday. The Review is published by the Northwestern University press as the official organ of the law schools of Northwestern, the University of Chicago, and the University of Illinois.

Citing the recent overhauling of the affairs of the federal Indian bureau

"This country," the editorial adds, "needs a constitutional Mussolini."

Charges Neglect of Duty.

"The senate's neglect of its own legislative duties is not so well known," Dean Wigmore continues. "The more the bar can see of the federal senate as a legislative failure, the sooner the bar will wake up to its duty of leading public opinion to a reform."

"But the senate has gone a step further. It starts a smoke screen for its own failure, by charging the executive with the fault."

Recounting the Indian affairs inquiry, he says: "Such is the senate tale. It exhibits the usual stage setting: the honest and vigilant senate preparing to expose the fraud and incompetence of the executive, and thus to gain popular respect as a bulwark of the people's rights, and to strengthen its usurpation of the people's power."

Declares Senate Not Needed.

"Is not this a shameful record for the congress? Year after year the executive department recommends simple measures of legislation to remedy hardships and evil conditions. Year after year congress does nothing."

"Back of it all seems to be an effort by Oklahoma self-seekers to persuade congress to give that state full legal power to exploit the Indians, untrammelled by the federal bureau.

"Is it not plain that in these measures of proposed remedial legislation the congress has been merely a fifth wheel? In short, in the unhealthy condition into which the congress has allowed itself to fall, we do not need it. Why depend upon it to legislate?"

"What this country now needs is a constitutional Mussolini. Does anybody see one emerging anywhere?"

WIFE, DAUGHTER WHO STRANGLED
FATHER, INSANE

Mrs. Clara Fischer, 57 years old, 3529 Broadway, and her daughter, Ethel, 31 years old, were committed to insane asylums yesterday by a jury in Chief Justice John J. Sullivan's Criminal court, where they were on trial for the murder of Jacob Fischer, husband of Clara and father of Ethel. Mrs. Fischer was ordered to the Elgin asylum, while her daughter was sent to the asylum at Kankakee.

The women strangled Fischer with a necktie last March. As he entered their home each seized an end of his necktie and pulled it until he was dead. Dr. Francis J. Gerty, superintendent of the psychopathic hospital, said that both mother and daughter were mentally unbalanced and had killed Fischer because they believed he had cursed them.

DRY NEBRASKANS DRINK IN OMAHA AND IN KITCHENS

Country Girls Learn How to Brew Nowadays.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.
Omaha, Neb., May 9.—[Special.]—Rural Nebraska is dry as tinder in sentiment but its drinking depends largely upon locale and the origins of population. Parts of the countryside are as wet per capita as the great cities. In counties largely made up of people of German or Bohemian stock, home brew and home wine making have become part of the established kitchen science. There are so-called German counties that are as wet as any in wicked Wisconsin along the lake shore or down the Fox river valley.

On the other hand, there are counties that appear dry both politically and in habit.

Hoosier Colony is Dry.
Broken Bow, for example, in Custer county, in the center of the state, is regarded as a typical dry place—settled largely by folks from Indiana. It has little bootlegging and is rated as dry as they come.

Spittsbottom, in Cass county, on the river some thirty miles south of Omaha, is spoken of as a typical wet small town. The county has a large settlement of German antecedents. Some authorities in close touch with the liquor question say that between 70 and 80 per cent of the German farmers have home brew in their cellars, or wine for home consumption. Around Omaha is an extensive farm area which is the seat of much home brewing.

Sheriff Needs Horse Sense.
A curious paradox emerges from the situation. The country vote, seeking to control the habits of the cities, puts prohibition over, but through home brew and home distilling the country vote has not disturbed the personal habits of extensive rural areas. The saying all through Nebraska is, "Any one who wants his home brew has it."

Where the county is wet the sheriff as a rule is not Hawkshawing on liquor. As they say here, "They don't go pestering around," and they follow an axiom, "Don't do any unnecessary work." It is reflected to some extent in the voting.

For instance, in O'Neill, in Holt county, in the north central part of the state, Sheriff Peter Duffy, a Democrat, said to be "a common sense official," won by less than a score of votes the first time he ran. Last time an opponent ran against him on the liquor issue, taking the extra dry side, and Duffy won by 1,100 and carried nearly all the precincts, where before he won by a scratch.

Politicians Must Be Dry.
But to get to congress in Nebraska a candidate has to be dry politically to win. It's a dry state, politically, the wets admit, but in general it has adjusted itself, what with home brew in the countryside and wetness in Omaha, its metropolis, to say nothing of legit in some of the smaller towns, and ordinarily the county elections do not get much fussed up over the liquor question.

As to whether the wetness of Omaha causes the rest of the state to point with pride or view with alarm, there appears matter for controversy. In Lincoln, which is one of the driest cities of its size—except, of course, when the legislature is in session—one often hears people say, "Omaha, you know, is not real Nebraska; it's only a tough old Missouri river town."

Omaha Is Mecca for Thirsty.
And here they crack right back with intimations that many dry Nebraskans find Omaha a convenient place to repair to for conviviality, much as Kansas City is a handy Mecca for thirsty Kansans. Most of the hotel room drinking here, they argue, is done by transients, of whom outside Nebraska furnishes its quota, without any draft.

In 1913 under the influence of William Jennings Bryan, the initiative and referendum was adopted, and in 1916, under the initiative and referendum, a constitutional amendment for prohibition was adopted by the margin of 23,442 out of 263,000.

The opinion of many experienced observers is that Nebraska had less drinking under state prohibition than under national prohibition. As one index the growth in arrests for drunkenness in Omaha is pointed out, and the increase in the penitentiary and reformatory population in the state, but the item you find them talking about the most is the increase in juvenile drinking.

Next 310 Prizes, 5 ea., 1,550.00
430 Prizes totaling $5,000.00

- This offer is open to everyone—men, women, boys and girls—except employees of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill.
- Puzzles are to be submitted only in complete sets. Do NOT send in each puzzle separately. Hold all puzzles until you have the complete set of 42. Then send them to "Crosswords," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1539, Chicago, Illinois. All entries must be in by midnight 15 days after puzzle No. 42 has been printed.

- Each entry must be sent by first-class mail, postage prepaid. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Post Office Department. No entries will be returned. With each entry a letter must be sent giving your name and address and telling in 50 words or less which of the 42 famous persons you consider the greatest and why. Contestants may submit as many sets of puzzles as they wish, but no contestant will be entitled to more than one prize.
- You need not buy the Chicago Tribune to compete. You may copy or trace the puzzles and send them in. The Chicago Tribune may be examined at any of its offices or at public libraries free of charge.
- The judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

ITALIAN INDUSTRY
BATTLES LABOR
AGENTS IN SHOPSOpposes Plan for Workers to Aid Administration.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
ROME, May 9.—A sharp conflict has broken out between the national confederation of industrial syndicates, comprising some two million workers, and the general confederation of industry, an organization made up of 50,000 employers, over the workers' claims to the right of placing a "fiduciary agent," meaning a representative of the local syndicate, in each factory to collaborate with the factory administration.

This fiduciary agent has already been placed in some factories, but violent protest has been voiced by the employers, who declare that the step means that Italy's social legislation is swinging to the left and that this fiduciary business is reminiscent of social politics in Russia.

Mussolini Favors Plan.
However, the fact that L'Avanti! Fascist organ of the syndicates, has been allowed bitterly to attack the industrial employers for their resistance to the fiduciary, is regarded as signifying that the fiduciary idea is not looked upon entirely with disfavor by Premier Mussolini and the Fascist politicians.

The L'Avanti! Fascist tonight argues that "the fiduciary in the factory represents a necessary liaison and unit of contact between the workers' syndicate and the factory management and there need be no fear that his presence will upset discipline and the administrative organization."

"He will help workers and report to

GIRL 2½ YEARS OLD STARTS ALL ALONE ON TRIP TO GERMANY

Lillian K. Hansen is only 2½ years old, but she put fear behind her, parted from her mother who is working in Milwaukee, and started off all alone for her grandmother's home in Germany. At the Dearborn street station yesterday the little girl held tightly to the big hand of her uncle, Otto Aubert, also of Milwaukee, who will take her as far as New York City over the Erie railroad. There he will put her aboard one of the Hamburg-American ships on Saturday.

Lillian doesn't think she will be so very lonesome crossing the ocean because she made friends on the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad yesterday with Ingrid Gerspert, who with her mother is going back to Germany on the same boat. In Germany Lillian will make her home with the grandmother she has never seen.

the syndicate on conditions in the factory. He will be a precious collaborator."

Employers Fight Scheme.

On the other hand, the employers present a solid opposition. One industrialist put his case in this manner:

"I have a metallurgical factory with 300 workers. Under this system I must recognize one of the workers whom I pay as a fiduciary official of the Metallurgical syndicate. He can control my work and tell me how to conduct my business. This is a system which would wreck discipline."

"If my employees have any complaint to make I am ready to deal with a representative of their syndicate, but I don't want any fiduciary, who, moreover, is not provided for or authorized by the charter of labor."

Duce to Settle Question.

The fight is raging along this line and the question is to be solved ultimately by the newly constituted national council of corporations, which controls all Fascist confederations. Premier Mussolini is president of this council of 100 men. If the Duce wants fiduciaries in the factories the employers will have to give in.

This disagreement, however, is not a labor conflict in the classic sense of the word. In other words, it cannot devolve into a strike or lockout, both of which have been prohibited by the Fascist government, to the great benefit of industry, as becomes obvious when it is recalled that in 1922 no work was done on 122 of the 245 days because of strikes or lockouts.

The conflict, however, comes at a time when the Fascist organization is trying to reorganize its labor and employer hierarchy. Last December Premier Mussolini broke up the general confederation of Fascist syndicates. As a result of his reform, each of the seven constituted categories of work, such as industry, agriculture, commerce, and banking, was organized in an autonomous confederation.

MEXICO CITY, May 9.—Catholic question after years of struggle and delay is in a fair way of being settled. Provisional President Gil and representatives of the Catholic hierarchy are working to find a way of settling the question. Two diplomats from American countries are working out a plan for Mexico for the reopening of churches and the restoration of friendly relations between the government and the Catholic authorities. The Catholic authorities are lending their effort to patch up the question, but the cost both the church and the government much in money and lives.

Expelled Priests and
The quarrel is due to the expulsion of the Catholic hierarchy from Mexico and the closing of schools. The struggle is government on the one hand and the Catholic hierarchy on the other. Six years ago, and has since then moved more than the Catholic hierarchy. The Catholic hierarchy, for revolt struck deep into Mexican society.

Closing of the Catholic schools has cost thousands of Mexican lives. The government has kept one-third of its army force in the field order in Jalisco and the state.

The District court has ordered seventeen women of the colony now en route to Manzanillo, embarking on their cases have been. The action followed an appeal to the court for habeas corpus. It was they never had been tried. Cases of smuggling a valuable financial aid to the Catholic hierarchy. ENGLEWOOD NINE DEFEATS TILDEN; BATTERY STARS

Home Runs Factor in 9-5 Victory.

Pitcher Ponzevic and Catcher Wolf, Englewood battery, led their team to a 9 to 5 triumph over Tilden in a central section game at Hamilton park yesterday. Tilden, led by Abrams, who hit a home run with two on bases, got away to a flying start in the first inning with four runs. Ponzevic came back in Englewood's half of the second to duplicate Abrams' feat. His mates added four more to give him a three run margin. During the remainder of the game he struck out eight Tilden batters. Wolf, his battery mate, accounted for two more runs in the fourth inning with the third home run of the game. Score: Englewood.....9 5 0 1-3 8 8
Tilden.....5 0 0 0-2 8 8
Batteries—Ponzevic and Wolf; Schaefer, Phillips and Kovarik.

PHILLIPS SWAMPS MEDILL, 20-7

Wendell Phillips went on a batting rampage at Douglas park yesterday to score in fifth city league victory, routing Medill, 20 to 7. Phillips is now in second place in the central section, its only defeat coming at the hands of Lindholm. Led by Corley, who hit a home run with two men on, and Henderson, who slammed out one with none on base, the Phillips batters piled up 11 runs in the first two innings. Kuefer of Medill punched out a four bagger with the bases loaded. Score: Phillips.....20 7 0 0-20 17 8
Medill.....7 0 0 0-1 7 8 3
Batteries—Phillips and Hart; Hachtman, Friedman and Bernstein.

CHAMPIONS WIN AGAIN.

Charlie Mack, pitching ace of the Lindholm, city champion, hurled his fourth straight victory to give his team a 3 to 2 triumph over Hyde Park at Byrne field. Mack allowed Hyde Park but four hits and struck out 12. Singles by Jackson and Kuefer gave Hyde Park its two runs, while Gowda's home run with Mack on base and a double by Wisneck accounted for Lindholm's trio. Hyde Park.....3 0 0 0-2 4 3
Lindholm.....2 0 0 0-3 6 3
Batteries—Mack and Sohr; Adams and Jackson.

CALUMET, 4; PARKER, 2.

Three runs in the first inning enabled Calumet to defeat Parker, 4 to 2, in a south section tilt at Hamilton park yesterday. Shales by Mose and Seis, a triple by Barber and a third single by Wendt accounted for the necessary trio. Parker battery of Kuefer and Russell, aided by Barber, turned in their team's only tallies in the third. Calumet.....4 0 0 0-4 8 0
Parker.....2 0 0 0-2 6 0
Batteries—Jannulis and Mathis; Russell and Kuefer.

BOWEN TRIUMPHS, 8-3.

Bowen defeated Morgan Park, 8 to 3, in a south section game yesterday at Bessemer park. Henshaw, Bowen pitcher, was the star, holding Morgan Park to two hits and striking out ten. His mates did not start hitting until the latter part of the game when they counted six runs in two innings. Morgan Park.....3 0 0 0-3 3 6
Bowen.....8 0 0 0-12 14 4
Batteries—Henshaw, Gebhart, and Christie; Henshaw and Juns.

OAK PARK NIPS MARSHALL.

Oak Park rallied in the fifth inning of its game with Marshall of the City League yesterday, scoring three runs to triumph, 3 to 2. Marshall gained its two run lead on a single by Heinrich, followed by Horwitz's double, and singles by Permatte and Feinlich in the fifth. In the fifth, Oak Park counted its three on singles by Fuller, Valencourt, Hyaker, and a double by Lovett. Marshall.....2 0 0 0-2 6 5
Oak Park.....3 0 0 0-3 8 0
Batteries—Brin and Lipschultz; Lally, Yeston, and Rusky.

guessing, themselves, and are likely to lose your money for you.

But the horse business is very confusing and I wouldn't care to imply that these boys are pretending to know more than they do. I just don't understand it. In fact, all I can get straight about horses is that they will run back into a burning barn once you lead them out and then scream to be led out again, which indicates to me that horses aren't quite bright.

Every year I set out to steep myself in the romance of the racing game but they are such suspicious people that some one with the seat out of his pants is sure to yell, "You can't hang around the barns, Billy." Being sensitive, I generally pretend that I am not hanging around but going to see a fellow and consequently I walk very fast and pull up at the exit gate a few minutes later. That isn't time enough to get steeped in the romance of anything.

Sande Up on Hermitage.

Now Earle Sande, the jockey, has a horse of his own in the Preakness and, since he intends to straddle this steed himself, there is much interest in the same. He calls the horse Hermitage and a man has been telling me that this critter can light out and tear right smart when Sande has a mind to push him.

Gray Coat is causing talk, having run a mile and a quarter in 2:09 3-5, which is considered quite spry and the investments on this one probably will return small dividends, if any.

Without suggesting that any one of them will or won't win the horse race, I would mention that Gray Coat, The Nut, Doctor Preeland, Essare and Leucite are mentioned to me in that order as more stylish, consistent and competent than the other eight on the list.

PURPLE GOLFERS PLAY FIRST HOME DUEL TOMORROW

Tackle Illinois Team at Westmoreland.

BY HARLAND ROHM.
Northwestern university's golf team will play its first home match tomorrow when the team of four tops 200 yard drives and mangle shots that stick on the pin at University of Illinois' foe. The match will be played at Westmoreland, which offered the use of its course to the Purple team for the season.

The Wildcats have won two matches, having beaten Armour institute, 11½ to 4, and Ohio State at Columbus last Saturday, 12 to 6. Illinois, which is reported to have a strong team, lost to Michigan. Four singles matches will be played in the morning and two best ball foursomes in the afternoon. Scoring is by the Nassau system.

The Northwestern team in their order of play are Bill Miller, John Whitaker, Oliver Rogers and Capt. Doug McKay. The Illinois team embraces Goldwater, Martin, Lyon and Huttin. The first three are sophomores. They will remain in Chicago over the week-end. Monday they play the University of Chicago team at Olympia Fields.

Amateur Boxing
Jimmy Myers and Don Christopher will meet in the main event of Johnny Cullen's amateur boxing show at the Midway Gardens, 60th street and Cottage Grove avenue, tonight.

GRINNELL STAR INELIGIBLE.
Grinnell, Ia., May 9.—[Special.]—Ineligibility on account of scholastic difficulties caused Warner Taylor, star Grinnell college track athlete and brother of Morgan Taylor, the 1924 Olympic hurdles champion, to be dropped from the list of twenty-three Pioneer tracksters who will invade Omaha Saturday for a track and field dual meet with Creighton university.

UNDER 80 and OVER 100 A Right and a Wrong Way to Play Golf by Jack Mathison

MY approach having landed in a sand pit, am getting out with a niblick. An open stance, an upright swing, that brings the clubhead into the sand an inch or two behind the ball, and an effort to follow through with stiff wrists, despite the fact the sand stops the club head, and the ball is out. Notice I have played the ball forward, about opposite my left heel, and have swung exactly as if I were hitting an iron shot on the fairway, but just a bit harder.

MR. DUFFER in his favorite spot in the sand trap, where his other faults have lodged his ball. Wrapping the club around his neck he's hit the sand hard enough to knock it to China. He's played the ball about the middle of his feet and has cramped his arms in an effort to get under it and lift it out of the sand with his hands. It is an excellent example of Mr. Duffer's trying to do the work the clubheads were designed to do. [Final illustration tomorrow.] [Copyright: 1929 By The Chicago Tribune.]

Chicago Derby Party to Be Guests at Kentucky Farm
Louisville, Ky., May 9.—A party of Kentucky Derby visitors, including several Chicagoans, will enjoy the hospitality at Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hay's Scotland farm, near Frankfort, on Sunday. They are making the trip to see Palomares, sire of the fleet Derby colt, Ervaat. Among the Chicagoans in the party will be Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Penbody, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Healy and Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Bidwill.

Knee Pierced by Javelin, Pitcher's Condition Serious

Galesburg, Ill., May 9.—[Special.]—Pierced through the knee by a javelin hurled by a Knox college student, Dewey Bohannon, star pitcher on the Galesburg Independent baseball team tonight is in a serious condition at his home here.

Bohannon was playing in left field for the Indians during practice session with the Knox college nine on the college field this afternoon. The St. Louis track team used a part of the same field. Jerry Tunnell of Davenport, Ia., one of Coach Earl Jackson's leading athletes, threw the javelin. Bohannon failed to hear warning cries and the ball player was downed as he stood with his back to the weapon.

Charley Paddock, Sprinter, to Live in Minneapolis

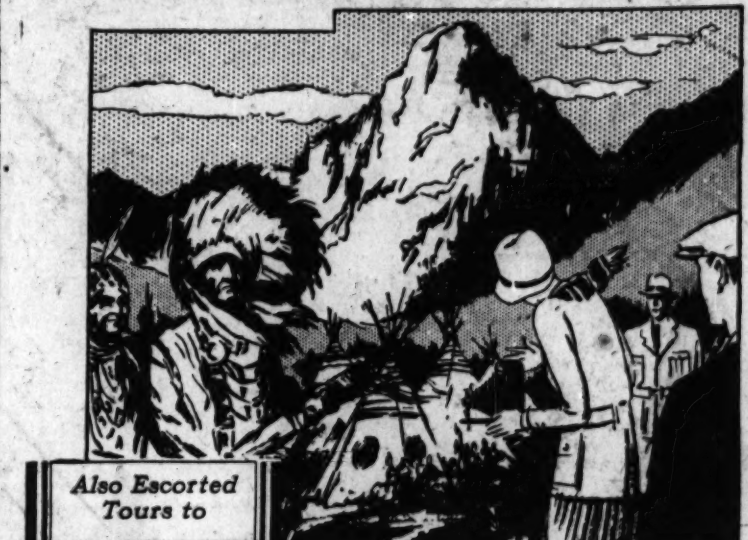

Minneapolis, Minn., May 9.—[Special.]—Charley Paddock, former world's sprinting champion, has taken up his residence here, it was learned today. He has become vice president of the Langwith Publishing company of Minneapolis and will take up his duties July 1. At present he lives in Pasadena, Cal.

Nichols Twirls No Hit, No Run for Amherst Nine

Amherst, Mass., May 9.—[Special.]—Nichols, pitching star of the undefeated Amherst baseball team, today hurled a not hit, no run game against the Williams nine, Amherst winning, 4 to 0.

WHEAT PRICES SAG LOWER TO PRE-WAR LEVEL

May at Lowest Seasonal Mark Since 1914.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Drastic liquidation was on in the wheat market again yesterday with May here declining 4 1/4c from the early high to $1.02 1/4, the lowest price at which that delivery had sold at this season of the year since 1914, and the lowest at any time since April, 1924.

Deferred deliveries were off as much as 5/16c from the early high with July down to $1.07, and while there was a rally from the inside prices due to evening up on the part of shorts for the government report due later in the day, the finish was at net losses of 3 1/4c to 3 1/2c, with May, $1.03 1/4; July, $1.08 1/4; and September, $1.11 1/4 and December, $1.14 1/4.

Corn broke badly with wheat and on liquidation by local long and commission houses, at the inside showing 4 1/2c to 4 3/4c under the early high, and the close was 1/4c to 1/2c lower with May showing the most strength. The latter finished at $0.84 1/4; July, $0.87 1/4; September, $0.89 1/4; and December, $0.91 1/4.

Rye lower, market about 4 1/2c to 4 3/4c under the early high, and the close was 1/4c to 1/2c lower with May showing the most strength. The latter finished at $0.84 1/4; July, $0.87 1/4; September, $0.89 1/4; and December, $0.91 1/4.

Wheat at New Low.

All deliveries of wheat sold at a new low on the crop, with heavy selling on stop loss orders, and there was a noticeable lack of aggressive support except such as came from shorts and from holders of large stocks.

While Winnipeg was off 4 1/4c to 5 1/4c at one time it closed only 2 1/4c to 3 1/4c lower for the day. Other American markets showed pronounced weakness, with Duluth down 1/2c to 3/4c. The latter closed 4 1/4c to 5 1/4c lower with the May down to 92 1/2c at the last.

A CHICAGO TRIBUNE cable from Liverpool telling of large stocks of wheat in that market, about 4,500,000 bu., and of trade predictions of a big break in prices attracted considerable attention, and had considerable to do with the decline here, although Liverpool closed 1/2c to 3/4c higher. Some traders were inclined to the belief that the situation was not nearly as pessimistic as painted, as the stock is equal to only one week's requirements of the United Kingdom. Owing to a lack of wheat on the continent, and weekly demand at the seaboard was distinctly slow.

May Corn Reverts Selling.

While all deliveries of corn with the exception of the May sold at a new low on the crop, the nearby delivery showed stubborn resistance to pressure and gained 1/4c on the July as the result of a continued good demand for the cash grain with shipping sales of $10,000 bu. here, and charters were reported for 250,000 bu. to Georgian bay and for 250,000 bu. to Buffalo. The best buying on the break was by shorts and holders of bids, with heavy and general liquidation in evidence on the way down. Kansas City spot basis was 1/4c to 1/2c higher.

Oats weakened in sympathy with other grains, with cash interests buying May, while the northwest bought July and sold September and December. Crop estimates were generally favorable. Rye broke with wheat, although there was selling of rye against purchases of wheat, and also buying of rye against sales of September corn.

PROVISIONS SUPPORTED

Considering the weakness and decline in grains, the market for lard and meats acted surprisingly well yesterday, support being attributed to packing interests. Hogs were higher, and arrivals fair. Cash demand was moderate. At the last bid was 10 to 12 1/2c lower on the active deliveries with Liverpool $5 higher to unchanged, and exports 454,000 lb., with bacon 42,500 lb.

Bellies were 7 1/4 to 12 1/2c lower, and ribs unchanged to 1/2c lower. Deliveries were 250,000 lb. bellies. Hog supplies were larger in the west than a week ago, but smaller than last year. Prices follow:

Utensils Have Their Good 'n Bad Points

Frier Lists Preferences
in Kitchen Wares.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

A continent for iron, a devotion to aluminum, a predilection for enamel as indispensable in its turn, tin ware and copper for suggestion and ornament, and wooden ware for service—these must be but makeshifts otherwise, how I would express my cooking utensil preferences. And then there is steel and wire, paper and wax, cloth, silver and glass and wooden ware.

The iron pot roasting kettle with its heavy cover—both have received a treatment previous to any cooking so that they will not rust—and a certain sort of iron roll pan, are two of the almost indispensable iron items in my "batterie de cuisine," but there are others such as the historic skillet, a pot hook for the fireplace, and the most adaptable of iron kitchen shavers for the kitchen shelf above the fire.

My desert and salad jelly molds are of enamel and porcelain, the potato boiling kettle is of enamel, and there are other items, including paper for roasting fruit and vegetables, and an enamel dish pan, and a double boiler in which to melt chocolate and do many other things.

Little round pieces for all sorts of things of vegetables, little chopping bowls, a bread board—one also for cutting bread on—and the rolling pins are of wood. Wooden spoons are indispensable, and if I could ever find wooden spatulas again I would buy a gross.

Compensatory Utensils.

I demand, as far as I can, kettles and saucepans that shall be perfectly good for many sorts of cooking. In a sense they should be as adaptable as the man carries in the pocket of his hunting breeches, all attached to a within one bone knife handle. Or, like my candle holder which will stand, hang, or stick into soft wood. These kettles must be straight-sided—a point to emphasize variously—and must meet the bottom at right angles without a curve.

The head on enamel is safe, and may be shaped, but some are vicious, and turn us to cast ware. A cover that is flat and seals hermetically is desirable, but any cover that is forced for a handle or ring, around which dirt may stew and enter the kettle is also vicious. And another thing, place for damp dirt—dampness acquired and kept from the washing plus ever gathering dust—is at the top of the handle where it joins the kettle. These are "iniquitous places" to keep clean.

A Muddening Variety.

If there could only be a league of nations organization of manufacturers of cooking utensils whose records would be open and inspected upon all the people who invent cooking utensils—olden are they real cooks—a really needed simplification might be arrived at. As it is, I am reminded of that old musical comedy song which was sung with strong lachrymose emphasis: "It is enough to Make a Perfect Lady Mad." [The heaviest emphasis was on enough, and perfect, and mad.] If there is any rule and reason in it, all and of course there is, I am still as perplexed as Marjorie Daw was, and at times practice has driven me mad, especially the practice that I get viciously when a woman writes me of her failures.

That is the horribly pernicious thing about a poor utensil, such as one made of cheap enamel, it makes a woman think she cannot cook. She is discouraged because what she has cooked in cheap enamel has burned, as it often will even when reasonable care has been exercised, and perhaps she has not learned that part of cooking yet.

Sectional Demands.

From a manufacturer of utensils I have just learned how various are the demands in different sections of the country for certain styles of utensils. He acknowledged that the straight-sided kettle was the cheapest to make, and gave the reason why the kettle with bulging sides came into use. I like it as little as I like a barrel-shaped drinking glass, which you can only drink empty by tipping your head "way back."

We would expect drip coffee pots to sell in the south, but now the north is taking to them. It particularly annoyed me, since I know a little about Pennsylvania Dutch cookery, to find that in New York state they demand the pot and in Pennsylvania the kettle, or the pot with a ball. Ever since the pot called the kettle black there has been some doubt in our

A SPRINGTIME DINNER TABLE

Tones of lavender and yellow in the appointments for this informal dinner table make a spring-like symphony in violet and gold. The goblets, fruit cocktail glasses, and candlesticks are of pale violet, the table mirror is in two tones of lavender, and the cloth and napkins are of pale orchid. The center bouquet is of heather and yellow narcissi, and the cigar trays are in gold Venetian glass.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.
Bouillabaisse.

No fish dish has ever had quite so famous a tribute paid to it as that which the great Thackeray gave to the fish stew—containing endless ingredients—which originated in Marseilles, France, but which, when brought over by Frenchmen to New Orleans got a Creole tradition and adaptation: "The taste of the bouillabaisse still lingered in the mouths of the old French-Creole settlers of New Orleans. The famous old chef sought two fish from the waters of the Mexican gulf that might be used in the making of the dish with reasonable hope of success. They chose the red snapper and the redfish. The result is told in Thackeray's tribute. The Creole bouillabaisse, with the modifications and improvements that early ingenuity suggested, is a dish that was the standard offering in antebellum days to every distinguished Parisian or foreigner that visited New Orleans."

This quotation is taken from the beautiful souvenir of one of the oldest hotels of New Orleans, which says that it would be incomplete without minds as to what was which, but these states have a mind about it.

The old pot and kettle both, formerly, had a tripod of legs, and on a replica of an ancient pot in my possession is this legend: "Model of ancient cooking pot in St. Albans museum." It does not have more ears like the New York pot, but handles at each side as large as those on pitchers. Undoubtedly the pot came first, and then some one came along and fastened a wire or rope over it so that it could be handled with one hand as small sized kettles or saucepans with ears can be.

Milwaukee, this manufacturer says, demands a large tea kettle, and in that fact is a whole home story, and something else beside—it tells much about the older type of cooking. Kitchenettes get on without a tea kettle of any sort, and there are good reasons why.

Lessening the Surfaces.

This manufacturer said to me, more than once, that he would be glad to have my ideas. Yet he was not hospitable to the two I offered, in fact, he could not see them. One was this: The inset in a double boiler should be shallow because then you can use it for work for which the deep one is not fitted, and also for all the things for which the deeper one is fitted, making it more compensatory, you see.

And here was my illustration, taken really from an old dietetic illustration. Suppose we have two insets holding exactly the same quantity just as would the cubic thing 3x3x3 and one 3x3x1. Let the former represent the shallow inset. Its total surface will be represented by 6, 9, or 54. The surface of the other will be 78. If you have melted chocolate in the deep one you can waste two-thirds more by its sticking to the surface when it is poured out than in the other, that is, if you have not buttered your utensil. It need not spread much, if any, on the bottom. In dipping candies the more horizontal the dipping utensil the better. But with a deep utensil it approximates the horizontal.

Now, as to surfaces in the frying pan, consider them. I can write a thousand words on the frying pan without half trying, etc.

HOUSEHOLD DISCOVERIES

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

The Tribune will pay one dollar each for aids to housekeeping, price varying with the value of the discovery. Recipes are excluded. Send discoveries in care of Sally Lunn, Chicago Tribune.

In scrambling eggs, I have found that cooking the mixture in a double boiler vastly improves them. The eggs are much more delicate than when cooked in a pan directly over the fire.

To remove a scorch from linen, cut an onion in half and rub the scorched part with it. Then soak in cold water, and the mark will disappear.

By painting the bottom of your garbage can, either an old or a new one, you can make it last much longer, as the acid will not affect the can so easily.

I find that by holding fish submerged in a large pan of water, while removing the scales, I save much work and time, as the scales remain in the water, which can be drained off. Wash the pan with cold water and soap and no fish odor will remain.

When making curtains of sheer material, pull a thread where you intend making the crease for the hem, and you will have a perfectly even hem.

Having no other space but the bedroom for my old sewing machine, I successfully converted it into a dressing table by fitting the top with paper-board covered with cretonne, to which

Keep a kettle full of water over the automatic lighter on your gas stove and you will always have warm or hot water when it is needed in a hurry.

Instead of buying waxed sewing thread for 15 cents a spool, buy ordinary thread, melt a square of paraffin in a small pan, and put in six spoons. Keep it hot for about 15 or 20 minutes, stirring the spools around, so the paraffin will penetrate. You now have a supply of waxed thread that will not knot when sewing on lace, button holes, etc., and at about one-third of the ordinary price.

To avoid overcooking the tips, scrape off any tiny leaves, wash the asparagus, cut it into equal lengths, discard the tough portions, tie it in bunches with a soft string and stand it upright in a deep sauce pan. The water should come about two-thirds of the way to the tips, which should be cooked by the steam alone. Cook until tender but not soft.

As with most green vegetables, asparagus is better slightly undercooked.

3 tablespoons of catsup; 2 tablespoons Worcestershire; 1 tablespoon lemon juice; 1 tablespoon Worcestershire Sauce. Salt to taste. Mix to make cocktail sauce. If preferred, use "Orchard Cocktail Sauce" from your grocer's. Separate a tin of Three Diamonds Brand Fancy Crabmeat into its original portions. Serve with sauce in thoroughly chilled glasses. A 1/2-pound tin will serve six persons.

The select claw and leg meat... of matchless flavor... in large, whole, meaty pieces... that is Three Diamonds Brand Fancy Crabmeat. This delicacy comes from the Pacific Coast—huge, deep-sea crabs found only in the icy waters of the North Pacific Ocean.

On the fishing grounds, the minute these crabs are taken from the sea, they are cooked ready to eat, then packed in sterile parchment wrappers, and sealed in lacquered tins. Three Diamonds Brand Crabmeat is delicious just as it comes from the wrapper—served simply in salads and sandwiches. During Lent, when it is so hard to find a satisfying variety of foods to serve, there is a welcome number of ways you can prepare this crabmeat... each one a tempting treat.

The famous Mitsubishi Company of Japan controls the packing of Three Diamonds Brand Fancy Crabmeat in specially prepared tins of approximately 1/2-pound and 1-pound sizes. You can buy it from your grocer at moderate prices, or he can easily get it for you. Mitsubishi Shoji Kaisha, Ltd.

Lots of Cute Favors for Gala Events

Tempt You to Think Up
Excuse for a Party.

BY SALLY LUNN.

An inspection of the attractive wares offered where favors and place cards are sold is most certainly conducive to putting one in a party-giving frame of mind. I made a pilgrimage to several of these shops with an eye to determining the styles in such delightful fripperies, and was amazed at the variety and ingenuity of them.

At this particular season, most of the favors are flowery and spring-like. One of the cunningest conceits was a tiny bouquet affixed to a paper-covered wire ring that might be used for a bracelet. This could be made quite easily in any of a variety of colors or schemes. The bouquets are made either of crepe paper flowers or artificial flowers that can be obtained where millinery goods are to be had, with a tiny lace paper frill. The stems are wound in silver or pastel-colored crepe paper, and are tied to the bracelet, wound with narrow matching paper or ribbon, with a perky little bow of silver gauze or baby ribbon. Place cards or small tally cards may be tied in with the bow.

They Will Please Girls.

These should be most popular. I should think, for sweet girl graduate parties. They add to the table decoration, and are inexpensive as souvenirs. A similar bouquet on a larger scale may be used for a centerpiece, with streamers of colored ribbons extending from the center like the spokes of a wheel.

Other suggestions for the school girl party were little wire figures with black crepe paper caps and gowns, and it occurred to me that miniature rolls of paper, tied with the graduating class colors, to look like diplomas, would be a clever place card, the name to be written clearly across the top, and the inside of the roll to have either a tally card, if it is a card party, or a foolish verse.

A professional figure of some kind in the center of the table would match this scheme. School girls are particularly appreciative of the effort made to create an interesting and clever setting for a party, and souvenirs make up so many more things to put in those valuable memory books.

A Going Away Party.

Another innovation that appealed to me was for a going away party. The tallies were little folders in the shape and design of traveling bags and hat trunks. A cardboard figure of a red cap, with silks under his arms, through which to place the cords on the tallies, made a colorful and gay figure for the center of a table. These can either be purchased or home made. If you aren't enough of an artist to make cards with water colors or crayons, you can always trace a picture of luggage to be found in the magazines with their wonderful advertisements and illustrations.

RAILROADS CARRY 138 MILLION IN CHICAGO YEARLY

Railroad passenger traffic has reached such a volume in Chicago that the number of arriving and departing passengers is more than 138,000,000 annually, according to a report issued by the Chicago Association of Commerce yesterday.

Daily traffic is estimated at more than 380,000 passengers of which 325,000 are suburban commuters. Every time the clock ticks four persons embark or detrain at one of the railroad terminals, the report stated.

A dark, vertical, textured strip, possibly a book binding or a piece of fabric, with a lighter, textured area on the left side. The dark area has a fine, vertical ribbed texture, while the lighter area on the left is more mottled and fibrous. The overall appearance is that of a close-up of a material's edge or a section of a book's spine.

The form of the special rule for discussion at a conference of all Republican members today was taken from the house. No action was taken on the rule which will reopen the debate on the tariff bill. Prior to the conference the continued debate on the tariff bill was in evidence in the ways and means com-
